French Public Is Relieved At Premier's Decision To Again Take Charge

PARIS, Nov. 9.—(UP)—President Gaston Doumergue summoned Raymond Poincare at 3 p. m. today and formally called on him to form a cabinet to replace the one which resigned Monday. Poincare remained with the president to discuss the possibilities of re-constituting his cabinet of the national union against radical socialist opposition. He promised to give his answer tonight.

The decision was accepted with relief by a large part of the French public and her elder statesmen, who have come to look upon the strong leadership of Poincare as the best guarantee on the country's stability.

President Doumergue, waiting until the Bourse closed to avoid financial excitement, called Poincare and conferred with him for two hours.

Doumergue issued an official announcement in which he stressed that Poincare would seek to form "a cabinet of republican concord." The phrase really is the same as the "cabinet or national union" which resigned, since it will be comprised of leading public men regardless of party affiliations.

The old cabinet probably will return, with the exception of the four radical socialist deputies whose resignation forced the crisis—Edouard Herriot, Albert Sarraut, Henri Queille and Leon Perrier. Poincare at once began a series of conferences with political leaders which may last all night long, to permit him to announce the organization of a cabinet to President Doumergue as soon as possible.

Rousing Reception For Gov. Smith On Arrival In Albany

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 9.—(UP)—Gov. Alfred E. Smith is back in his adopted home today, more popular in defeat than he ever was in victory.

Larger crowds may have greeted Smith along the 11,000 mile trail he traveled in quest of the presidency, but never has there been a more enthusiastic one than turned out here last night.

Shouting women stood ankle deep in snow puddles, firing rockets into the night and screaming themselves hoarse for the man who went down to defeat under the greatest electoral landslide ever registered in the United States.

Men hurled torn paper from housetops; children fought their way to the curbstones to wave flags in Smith's face.

CHILDREN WILL ROMP ABOUT WHITE HOUSE AFTER HOOVER TAKES UP RESIDENCE THERE

By THOMAS L. STOKES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

PALO ALTO, Nov. 9.—Children will romp about the White House in the next administration for the first time in 20 years. Herbert Hoover the third is just a year old now, to be true, within two or three years he will have reached the age that delights in riding a velocipede on such places as the east room's shiny floors, which have not been marred since young Quentin Roosevelt, who now occupies a soldier's grave in France, urged his pony to try the slippery footing.

Herbert's sister, Flaxen haired, blue eyed Peggy, already has reached the mischievous age. Knowing her grandfather only as a big, kindly man and not as president-elect of the United States, she marches into his study here, where he is pondering affairs of state and planning his administration, calmly pushes aside his paper and insists on a romp.

And the president-elect sets aside important matters and plays with his two and a half year old granddaughter. He is proud of her. People tell him she is the living image of him, and needs only a cigar in her pert little mouth to be a double as far as facial features are concerned.

Her father and mother will not live in the White House all the time, but they will be in and out of it on week ends, during college holidays, and during the summers. The mother and children will become familiar figures about the executive mansion. Herbert Hoover, Jr., is an instructor in business economics at Harvard, taking after his father. Recently he has become interested in aviation. He has completed a survey of aviation fields in connection with the Guggenheim aviation foundation.

His younger brother, Allen, who recently became of voting age, still has a quarter of work to complete in Stanford university before graduation.

Allen is expected to go in business on the Pacific coast, and Herbert, Jr., will continue his work at Harvard where he is doing research in addition to his instruction duties.

The president-elect is enjoying a family reunion here as he rests in preparation for the arduous duties of the presidency.

Hoover is giving a good deal of thought to his success in breaking into the solid south, and what this new miracle means to the future of the Republican party. He and party leaders are planning to capitalize it by encouraging establishment of live, active, effective organizations there.

His popularity in the south, strikingly demonstrated by the four states of the old "solid south" in his column, has been emphasized to him in the numerous congratulatory telegrams from southern people, which include many invitations to visit that region.

Hoover may spend some time in the south after the new year, possibly setting up a winter home in Florida. He is not expected to accept any of the southern invitations now.

After remaining here about a month, he will take a trip, just where he has not been decided definitely. He is considering a return trip to Washington by way of the Panama canal. The family will spend Thanksgiving here, and all will be together Christmas in Hoover's S street home in Washington. He also will have his family about him at his inauguration as president next March 4.

DEFEATED CANDIDATE SAILING TO ENGLAND

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(UP)—After a lengthy White House conference today, Alanson B. Houghton, of New York, who was defeated Tuesday in his senatorial race, announced he would sail for England Wednesday at the suggestion of President Coolidge.

Houghton recently resigned as ambassador to England to run for the senate. He declined to say whether he had withdrawn his resignation.

England, Canada Open Negotiations On Urban Workers

LONDON, Nov. 9.—(UP)—The government is negotiating with Canada to accept British immigrants without stipulating that they be farm workers, Sir Arthur Steel Maitland, secretary for labor, announced in the house of commons today.

Sir Arthur revealed that it was hoped from 3000 to 4000 urban workers might go to Canada in the next six months. Also, he said, it was hoped to send Canada 5000 to 6000 workers from agricultural training centers in the same period.

HERBERT HOOVER'S POPULAR VOTE CONTINUES TO MOUNT

Late Figures Increase Lead To 6 Millions

G. O. P. Landslide Larger Than Early Reports to Headquarters Show

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(UP)—The scope of Herbert Hoover's victory in the race for president of the United States continued to grow today. Latest United Press figures showed Hoover had swept the country by more than 6,000,000 votes in the popular balloting and that his votes in the electoral college stood at 444 as compared with 87 for Governor Alfred E. Smith, the Democratic candidate.

One by one the outstanding precincts reported a greater gain for the commerce secretary. As a few of the mid-western states and the eastern states came in, it was shown that the Hoover landslide had reached greater proportions than even had been considered as the first ballots came in Tuesday night.

Even North Carolina, one of the states of the solid south, aided in piling up the great popular vote that the Republican party amassed in this election.

The popular vote as shown by the most recent United Press tabulations:

Electoral votes: Hoover 444, Smith 87.
States carried: Hoover 40, Smith 8.

Popular vote:
Hoover 20,384,935.
Smith 14,224,196.
Total 34,609,131.
Hoover's plurality: 6,160,739.

Herbert Hoover's victory in the presidential election brought with it 27 Republican seats in the 71st congress out of a total of 435 at issue, a net gain of 39. This gives the Republicans working majorities in both houses.

The Republicans won seven Democratic seats and successfully defended the seats of 13 in the senate. Democrats recaptured the other 13 seats at issue.

CHINESE AVIATOR HOPS FOR ALBANY

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 9.—(UP)—Dr. Tien Lai Huang, Chinese aviator, took off today from the Buffalo airport for Albany, N. Y., the next stop on his good will tour of the United States. He was accompanied by Donald Starr and Jack Byrne, of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Dr. Huang, one of the leaders of the Chinese Nationals and a graduate of Syracuse university, revealed plans for a Pacific flight next spring. The trip, he said, would start from San Francisco, jump to Hawaii, to Midway island, to Shanghai and thence to Canton, a distance of about 9000 miles.

LOTTIE PICKFORD SAYS SHE WAS ROBBED BY FOUR THUGS

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Nov. 9.—(INS)—Lottie Pickford, sister of Mary Pickford, was kidnapped, beaten and robbed by four men who sought to attack her in the Hollywood hills early today after they had knocked her companion, Jack Daugherty, unconscious, according to a report to the Hollywood police.

Miss Pickford told detectives that she and Daugherty, former husband of Barbara Lamar, and Virginia Brown Farris, were returning to her home in Hollywood about 3 a. m., when the engine of Daugherty's car stalled.

Daugherty alighted from the car and was bending over the motor when the four men suddenly appeared and slugged him. Leaving Daugherty unconscious on the curb, the four men then entered the car and drove to a lonely spot in the hills where Miss Pickford said the attack was attempted.

DEATH TOLL IN EXPLOSION IS RAISED TO 18

Witnesses Tell Horrible Tales of Suffering and Terrible Scenes

By FRANK MURPHY
United Press Special Correspondent

LYNN, Mass., Nov. 9.—(UP)—A twisted mass of cement and steel—the charred ruins of a funeral pyre that blasted, tore and burned to death 18 persons and injured scores—was searched by firemen today for bodies as this New England city mourned the victims of the worst disaster in its history.

Sudden and terrific, a chemical-celulose explosion yesterday shattered the one and one-half story building of the Preble Box Toe company's plant and threw a flame into neighboring tenement houses.

Mrs. Harry Blaney and five children were burned to death when the flame from the explosion enveloped their home. Blaney was reported dying from burns and two other Blaney children were badly burned.

Eleven workmen were killed. Two of them either had been hurled to the street by the force of the explosion or had run out, their clothing on fire, screaming for help. They were found dead on the street.

Beside the Blaneys, four men and a woman were in Lynn hospital, badly burned, three of them possibly fatally.

Cause of the explosion may never be known. Anything from the careless use of a cigarette (a violation of the factory rules) to spontaneous combustion of chemicals in use at the plant were advanced as reasons.

Scenes of horror greeted firemen. Huge pieces of cement were strewn about the street and flames poured from the factory ruins and adjacent buildings.

Employees who escaped being buried in the wreckage ran from the building with their clothing in flames and collapsed. Intense heat caused by the burning of chemicals kept firemen from rescuing other workers pinned in the blazing wreckage.

A witness said that he saw one body thrown 80 feet in the air as sheets of flame rose from the building. Windows were shattered in buildings within a wide radius of the factory, and one woman, nearly a mile and a half away, was so startled by the explosion that she jumped from a second story window, breaking both her legs.

LOTTIE PICKFORD SAYS SHE WAS ROBBED BY FOUR THUGS

She said she was beaten and partly disrobed in the struggle and showed the detectives her torn dress and stockings. The men robbed her of her watch and necklace and attempted to wrench a valuable bracelet from her wrist, but missed two valuable diamond rings, which Miss Pickford said she had concealed in the toe of one of her slippers.

Screaming and fighting against attack Miss Pickford said she managed to hold her assailants for several minutes until the leader of the quartet, speaking in Spanish, called the others off. The four then drove Miss Pickford back to the spot where Daugherty had been left.

Daugherty, still unconscious, was lying across the curb. The men then left and Miss Pickford said she revived Daugherty, who drove her to her home.

Blind Inmate Sees Through Another's Eye

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(UP)—Bert Ferguson, inmate of an institution for the blind, has regained his sight, but the vision now comes through another man's eye.

Two weeks ago he underwent one of the most delicate operations ever known to science. A cornea from the eye of Charles Greenblatt, which had to be removed because of a tumor, was transferred to Ferguson's eye, over which a cataract had formed. The bandages have been removed and the patient is able to distinguish objects 10 feet away.

GRAND JURY IN L. A. TAKES UP GRIMES STORY

Confession of Woman That She "Framed" Council Official Probed

By ARTHUR L. MAREK
International News Service Special Correspondent

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 9.—The amazing confession of Mrs. Callie Grimes that she was the lure in an underworld "frame-up" which resulted in the arrest of Councilman Carl I. Jacobson on a morals charge, today portended more sensational revelations in the Los Angeles county grand jury investigation of bribery and corruption of public officials.

Several additional indictments were expected to be returned today as a result of the disclosures made by Mrs. Grimes.

In an affidavit, made available to the grand jury, Mrs. Grimes charged that Councilman Jacobson, a militant vice-crusher, was engineered by Albert Marco, convicted vice lord of Los Angeles, with the connivance of the police. The woman named as conspirators in the asserted plot:

Frank Cox, Los Angeles policeman and a brother-in-law of Mrs. Grimes.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC PLANS BUS SERVICE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—(UP)—An interstate bus line between San Francisco and Portland with a running time of 29 hours and 40 minutes will be started November 18 by the Southern Pacific Motor Transport company, T. B. Wilson, general manager, announced here today.

The announcement was taken by operators of independent stage companies as an indication that the Southern Pacific railroad, through its motor subsidiary, will make a determined bid for bus business on the coast, already a bone of contention between the railroad and the bus organizations.

R. W. STEWART TRIAL STARTS ON MONDAY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(UP)—The trial of Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of Standard Oil Company of Indiana, on an indictment charging perjury before the senate Teapot Dome committee, will start Monday in District of Columbia supreme court before Justice Jennings Bailey, according to Stewart's lawyer, Frank J. Hogan.

Hogan, who obtained Stewart's acquittal on a senate contempt charge last spring, said he was eager to bring the case to trial as soon as possible.

RADIO STATION APPEALS RULE OF COMMISSION

Large Eastern Broadcaster Seeks to Postpone New Limiting Program

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(UP)—Radio litigation involving the right of station WGY, Schenectady, N. Y., large eastern broadcaster, was started today in District of Columbia court of appeals with the filing of an appeal contesting the radio commission's action in limiting the station's program.

Charles Evans Hughes headed the counsel for the station which is owned by the General Electric company.

The station asked for a stay to postpone the effectiveness of the commission's limitation order, which is scheduled to go into effect Sunday morning as a part of general reallocation.

The commission has ordered WGY to be a part time station, requiring it to shut down at 8 p. m., eastern standard time, in order to clear the air for KGO, Pacific coast station, owned by the General Electric company and operating on the same 790 kilocycle channel.

Supplementing the suit, the states of New York, Vermont, New Hampshire and Massachusetts, through their attorneys general, wired to U. S. Attorney General Sargent, urging him to consent on behalf of the government to allow "a reasonable stay" to permit the court to review the commission's decision without interruption of WGY's present service.

ARRAIGN SCHOOL BOY FOR GIRL'S MURDER

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(UP)—Dressed in the newest collegiate fashions, Vincent Rice, 17-year-old Staten Island high school boy, was arraigned in the Richmond county courthouse today and calmly pleaded not guilty to a charge of murdering his sweetheart, Alice Joost, 15.

The girl was strangled to death last Friday night in her home. Rice made a confession to police, saying he became angry at her when she tried to embrace him. The youth's attorneys have indicated they will offer an insanity defense.

The well is located about 300 feet from the highway intersection and is surrounded by wells of the Texaco and Union oil companies. The Bellevue was a re-depositing job, and had been sunk to a depth of about 4500 feet.

With the first rush of the gas the entire district was showered with rocks, shot hundreds of feet into the air, from the casing. As in the case of the Getty well fire, it is believed that the friction of rocks in the casing caused sparks that ignited the gas.

Five hundred workmen were put to the task of tunnelling down to the casing from a point about 100 yards distant, in an effort to tap the pipe and stop the fire from below.

The Bellevue No. 1 well is in the heart of the Santa Fe Springs district and is owned by the Bellevue Oil company.

U. S. TO WITHDRAW FORCES FROM CHINA

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(UP)—Additional United States marines will be withdrawn soon from China, it was learned at the state department today.

State and navy department officials are discussing now the proper number to be withdrawn and the stations in China which shall be affected.

House of Commons Members Decide to Avoid Lady Astor

LONDON, Nov. 9.—(UP)—Members of the house of commons, experts in the art of heckling, today nursed a licking in the art of snappy comebacks and decided to "lay off" their fellow member, Lady Nancy Astor.

In the lobby of parliament, house of commons members undertook to jibe Lady Astor about her enthusiasm over Herbert Hoover's election and the enforcement of prohibition. They asked: "If Americans believe in prohibition, why don't they bring their prohibition principles with them when they come to Britain?"

"Why don't Englishmen take their morals with them when they go to Paris?" Lady Astor flashed back at them.

HUGE GASSER BREAKS OUT INTO FLAMES

Roar Heard for Miles and Hundreds of Windows Are Shattered By Blast

500 FIGHTING FIRE

All Roads In District Are Closed to Traffic As Nine Derricks Crumple

WHITTIER, Nov. 9.—(INS)—

With a roar that was heard for miles around, a blast that shattered hundreds of windows, and a 200-foot flash that was visible from Los Angeles, the Bellevue oil well No. 1, in the Santa Fe Springs district "came in" at 3:10 a. m., today, and 10 minutes later was in flames.

The well is located within half a mile of the Getty well that burst into flames about September 1 and burned for nearly two months before it could be capped.

Nine wooden derricks and a score of steel rigs crumbled under the scorching heat of the blast and damage mounted to nearly $500,000 within two hours after the fire started.

Shooting 300 feet into the air, the flames made it impossible for the workmen to approach within a block and all efforts were turned toward preventing other rigs and nearby tanks from becoming ignited.

Alarms were sent out at once and sheriff's deputies immediately were rushed to guard the danger zone.

All roads in the district were closed to traffic but in spite of the efforts of the guards, hundreds of automobiles filled with sightseers flocked to the scene.

All the other wells in the danger zone were capped and streams of water were played on them to prevent ignition under the terrific heat of the 300-foot torch of flames.

An area of about four city blocks was being menaced by the flames and all trees and shrubbery, within a radius of 300 to 500 feet shriveled under the scorching heat from the huge torch.

A small tank located almost alongside the burning well was fired and flames still were roaring from the pit this morning.

More than 150 men were at work on a score of rigs in the immediate vicinity of the fire but all ran to safety when the first roar of escaping gas warned them that the Bellevue No. 1 had "come in."

Only half a dozen men were at work on the Bellevue at the time. The well is located about 300 feet from a highway intersection and is surrounded by wells of the Texaco and Union oil companies.

The Bellevue was a re-depositing job, and had been sunk to a depth of about 4500 feet.

With the first rush of the gas the entire district was showered with rocks, shot hundreds of feet into the air, from the casing. As in the case of the Getty well fire, it is believed that the friction of rocks in the casing caused sparks that ignited the gas.

SLAYER OF OREGON FACES FIRING SQUAD

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 9.—(INS)—Mexico's most sensational trial was at an end today after a seven day session. A jury sitting in the San Angel district court needed less than an hour to decide that Jose De Leon Toral was guilty of the murder of President-elect Alvaro Obregon and that Mother Superior Maria Concepcion Acevedo Y De La Lanza was guilty of being the "intellectual author" of the crime.

Immediately after the jury brought in its verdict, Toral was sentenced to death by a firing squad. The Mother Superior received a sentence of 20 years imprisonment. The Mexican law does not permit capital punishment for women.

Davis Draws Life Sentence In Folsom For Burglary

MAKES PLEA OF GUILTY TO FIVE THEFT COUNTS

Gazing steadfastly through a window at the outer world, Edward Davis, 45, real estate salesman of 1403 West Fourth street, today heard Superior Judge James L. Allen pronounce sentence of life imprisonment in Folsom immediately after he had pleaded guilty to five counts of burglary with prior convictions. Davis will not become eligible for parole until 12 years have passed.

Final lines in a story of wholesale burglaries in Orange county, unearthed by Robert Sandon, investigator for the district attorney's office, were written swiftly today when Davis appeared in court. Deputy District Attorney S. B. Kaufman filed information against Davis, who gave his true name as Baker, charging him with five thefts in the county. Davis, apparently trying to give the appearance of indifference, gazed at the floor or out of the window as he stated that he was ready to plead to the charges at once. He pleaded guilty and asked for sentence, which the court pronounced.

Habitual Criminal
He was sentenced under section 644 of the California penal code, which classifies him as an habitual criminal because of the fact that twice he has been convicted of burglaries, once in Los Angeles and once in Louisiana. If he had had one more conviction to his credit, he would have been ineligible to apply for parole even after 12 years.

The list of burglaries committed in Orange county by Davis and brought to light by Sandon and the police departments of Santa Ana and Anaheim constitute one of the most sweeping records of criminal operation ever revealed here, according to authorities. The loot collected by Sandon was taken to the office of Herman Zabel, fingerprint expert of the sheriff's office, and was said to be worth several thousand dollars. Hundreds of pieces of silverware, jewelry, watches, desk clocks, beaded bags, two pairs of silk underwear, kodaks, pocket knives and a large variety of other articles were included in the assortment.

The arrest of Davis resulted, it was said, after a woman had reported seeing Mrs. Lydia Schroeder, also of Santa Ana, wearing a dress which she recognized as being one stolen from her home. Mrs. Schroeder was arrested and freed on $2500 bail after a petty theft charge had been entered against her in Anaheim.

Persons from whom property is alleged to have been stolen by Davis and who were named in the charge against the man included Mrs. Ella Temple, 801 French street; Grace Johnson, 115 Hickory street; Mrs. Perry Houts, 301 Pine avenue, Anaheim; Mrs. L. A. Mayfield, 110 East Eleventh street, Santa Ana; and C. P. Wells, 209 Princeton street, Fullerton.

Persons said to have identified property in the loot recovered by officers include Mrs. J. E. Wilson, 204 North Gale street, Fullerton, robbed last January; Mrs. Elizabeth Yoren, 515 East Broadway, Anaheim; J. H. Brunsworth, 1109 East Center street, Anaheim; Miss Adelou Landreth, 123 North Berkeley street, Fullerton, robbed October 23; Mrs. Ella Campau, 801 French street, Santa Ana; Anthony Felix, 515 East Broadway, Anaheim, and Mrs. Hawthorne, Santa Ana.

Court Notes

Sunday Kintero claims that he was discharged from the employ of W. E. Bates in July, 1927, without being paid all the wages that were due him for ranch work. He had brought suit today against Bates for $745 and demanded $180 additional as a penalty for Bates' alleged omission.

Articles of incorporation for the Newport Beach Boat Builders' company were filed today in the office of the county clerk. Capital stock of $100,000 has been authorized. Directors in the concern are R. W. McClellan, Albert Sparkes, Charles L. Lockard, Harold H. Coyle and T. H. McGovern.

The will of the late William L. Innes, of Santa Ana, who died in Upland, October 13, had been filed for probate today. The estate is valued at over $10,000, the probate petition stated. Lizzie W. Innes has been named executrix by the terms of the will. The Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. was given $500 by the will.

Della Erquhart today brought suit against the Southern California Edison company, seeking $3,159.50 damages for a broken ankle which she claimed to have received when she stepped into a hole from which a telephone pole had been removed. In filling the hole, the company had left the dirt 14 inches from the top, she alleged.

Charging cruelty, failure to provide and asserting that her husband associated with another woman, Hattie P. Hollingsworth today brought suit for divorce against Dale J. Hollingsworth.

Jesus Cruz today sought annulment of his marriage to Clara M. Cruz, stating that she deserted him on the day they were married, Sept. 13, 1928. The complaint pointed out that Mrs. Cruz did not love her husband and did not intend to live with him as his wife.

LAGUNA BEACH CAST PLAYS TO PACKED HOUSES

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 9.—Triumphantly successful was the effort of the Community Players, a local Little Theater group in their presentation of "The Torchbearers" given at the Community club Wednesday and Thursday nights to packed houses.

Though the play is one in which amateur must portray professionals taking the parts of amateurs they succeeded in their difficult undertaking in the estimation of the crowds which attended and which cheered the players repeatedly and heartily. Much credit was given Mrs. Guy Bates Post for her work in drilling the amateur Thespians. Those who took part in the play were Eleanor Mae Spencer, Marshall Ford, Nina McMillan, Marie Harding Thurston, Gertrude B. Schwinn, Bernard St. Clair, John Mariner, Charles Stevens, Martha De Ahna, Philip Laude-Knaggs, F. W. Shields and Ada Crosby.

HIS HONOR LANDS IN JAIL

This unusual portrait of his honor, the mayor of Newburyport, Mass., was taken the other day at the door of his executive office. If you could see the interior, you would find it furnished with Spartan simplicity. Even the wrought iron grill-work of the door is of plain design, but these things are not the choice of "Bossy" Gillis, who doesn't have the key. The law, it seems, had the temerity to cast his honor into a common jail, all on account of his having sold some gasoline without a license.

of Los Angeles, sentenced to 20 years in prison for attempted murder.

Dick Lucas, Los Angeles police detective, who won prominence by his work in the William Edward Hickman case.

Harry Raymond, special police investigator, who also figured prominently in the Hickman case.

Rusty Williams, police detective, a member of the raiding party which arrested Jacobson at the home of Mrs. Grimes.

Bert Wallis, city detective, another member of the raiding party.

Others named in the startling affidavit were:

District Attorney Asa Keyes, veteran Los Angeles prosecutor, indicted for bribery and accused of corruption.

Police Chief James E. Davis, under fire by the Los Angeles city council as a result of vice conditions in Los Angeles.

Rodney Webster, formerly president of the Los Angeles police commission.

Mrs. Grimes admitted in her affidavit that she lured Councilman Jacobson to her home on the pretext of discussing her street assessment and attempted to entice him in a compromising situation while police awaited her signal to break into the house.

She charged that the arrest of Jacobson was made in an attempt to intimidate the councilman and put to an end his vigorous campaign against vice in the city.

For her part in the asserted "frame-up," Mrs. Grimes said, Marco promised to pay her $2500 in cash and $100 a month "as long as she lived." Instead, she received only $2140 in all, Mrs. Grimes complained. She was handed $50 by her brother-in-law, Frank Cox, last month as a final payment when she was told "that is all, there isn't any more," she said. She was threatened if she "squawked," she added.

"I am making this statement in order to do my best in righting the wrong I have done to Mr. Jacobson and his family and hoping that those who persuaded me to bring this disgrace upon myself and my own family, as well as others, may be brought to justice," Mrs. Grimes explained in her affidavit.

Her brother-in-law was prompted in the alleged conspiracy by his desire to "get a better job" on the vice squad, of which he was a member, Mrs. Grimes declared. In her affidavit, Mrs. Grimes charged she was told to get Jacobson into her home on some pretext, attempt to persuade him to drink liquor and entice him into a compromising position where he could be trapped by officers.

She charged she was asked to persuade the councilman to remove part of his clothing. She said police officers were hidden in a shed near the house before Jacobson arrived. This the officers always have denied, although the charge was made originally by Jacobson and his lawyers.

She declared she attempted to induce Jacobson to drink and attempted to sit on his lap and entice him into other compromising positions. These attempts were vain, she said, Jacobson informing her he was a married man and did not like "such conduct."

Mrs. Grimes despairing of being

70 PRESENT AT CO. L REUNION IN SANTA ANA

At a reunion of Company L members last night in Ketter's cafe, Col. Nelson M. Holderman, former commander of the unit, was honored by the presence of 70 former members of the organization, who presented him with a large American flag. Colonel Holderman celebrated his birthday yesterday, giving the affair an added interest.

Jack Fisher, commander of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War here, was elected president of the Company L association, which has met annually to renew the events and ties of former years. Fisher succeeds C. D. Swanner, of Santa Ana, who had held the office for three years. Louis A. Riehl, of Tustin, was made secretary, taking the place filled by Fisher for three years.

Edward Burns, accompanied by Miss Alice Lair, played several cello selections during the evening.

The affair began with a dinner at 7 p. m., and most of the evening was filled by reminiscing over the days when those present were active in Company L. Colonel Holderman, who now is commandant at the veterans' hospital in Yountville, has been honored each year by the association in a similar manner.

Col. S. H. Finley, commander of the seventh infantry during the Spanish-American war; T. E. Stephenson, sponsor and friend of the company for years; Bry Williams, cashier of the First National bank; Charles Dixon, former department commander of the Spanish-American war veterans; Capt. J. L. McBride, in command of Company L when it went to the Mexican border in 1916; Lt. Howard Wassum, active in the organization from the time of the Spanish-American war until 1912, and L. A. K. Ford, Los Angeles, who was with the unit for several years, were honored guests at the affair.

MOLTEN FLOOD OF LAVA TAKES TOLL OF LIVES

RIPOSTO, Sicily, Nov. 9.—(INS)—Driving thousands of homeless before it, and laying waste to uncounted acres of rich farm land in eastern Sicily, the molten flood of lava from the now active Mt. Etna relentlessly swept onward today.

The boiling mass has already taken a toll of five lives. Three men who did not leave their homes soon enough as the lava approached Sampoco were engulfed by it. A terror-stricken peasant and his wife at Mascall waited too long in fleeing and also lost their lives.

Three main streams of lava covered at the town of Carrabba last night and almost totally destroyed the town, which had been evacuated hours before.

Army engineers were devising plans for diverting the molten masses from Giarre, a city of 25,000, now in the path of the lava. Thousands are working frantically, digging enormous trenches which it is hoped will change the course of the molten streams so that they will head for the sea without hitting the city.

Railway connections between Catania and Messina have been severed. At the outskirts of Carrabba, the lava was flowing at the rate of only about 15 yards an hour but the molten rock was 12 feet high.

It is hoped that geographical conditions will slow down and possibly stop the relentless masses. Scientists, however, made no predictions in the matter. If the lava reaches the Ionian sea, it will be a phenomenon which has not occurred in two centuries.

The lava streams are being fed from 100 open fissures in the volcano. So long as these openings continue to belch forth lava, the streams will continue to flow because of the pressure of the new masses erupting from the mountain.

The molten flow swept down through the district and as the searing stream struck the trees they were withered. The white hot flames struck up into the trunks, eating away the sap, and before one's very eyes the trees withered. The three streams from Mount Etna are visible from Mascall, pouring down in unabated wrath. A column of smoke rises from the summit and the cinders from the terrible subterranean disturbance fill the air.

A WORD OF COMFORT

No attainment in any life ever merely happens; it had to be won by strenuous effort; it had to be paid for in advance. Nature does no business "on credit."
The character which you are in process of developing and which is to make you a power for good among your fellows, is to be yours not by the gift of fortune, but by your struggling upward with his guidance and help through sorrow and hardship. When the fight is a true one, remember that what you are to win is worth its price.

GRIGG—At her home in Roseville, Calif., Nov. 7, 1928, Lena Grigg, wife of Rev. Walter F. Grigg, former pastor of the First Baptist church of Garden Grove. Funeral services will be held Saturday at 1:30 p. m. from Smith and Tutthill's chapel. Interment Fairhaven cemetery.

'MARCH KING'S' OWN NUMBERS MOST POPULAR

BY RUTH ANDREWS

Fulfilling every expectation, Lt. Com. John Philip Sousa and his internationally famous band yesterday afternoon won their way into the hearts of the community and were greeted in Santa Ana high school auditorium by an especially responsive audience, which paid the brilliant, generously-encored program, and especially Sousa's own compositions, well-merited tribute of applause.

As the curtain rose promptly at 8 o'clock, the noted organization was disclosed, impressively grouped. Ovarations of applause from a packed house marked entrance of the talented conductor, Lt. Com. John Philip Sousa, whose unusual achievements and well-poised personality have won him universal admiration from lovers of band music.

Effectively opening the program, "A Study in Rhythms" (Sousa) was, as its name implies, replete with vivid contrasts of tone and tempo, gracefully modulating familiar strains with clear sense of dramatic values.

Fitting prelude to a satisfying program, this initial number made evident Sousa's excellent control, the admirable co-ordination for which the organization is noted, creating distinctly the impression of a huge, multi-toned instrument. Each unit seemed vitally a part of the living, throbbing, well-blended whole, equally at ease in producing effects of stirring animato or delicate adante.

Calm and Dispassionate

Achieving effects with a minimum of effort, Sousa impressed one as unusually calm and dispassionate, wholly in accord with his musicians.

Cornet solo work of William Tong in the patriotic medley-arrangement of familiar military airs, "Soldiers' Dream" (Rogers) was pleasingly clear, smoothly clean-cut. Enthusiastic applause greeted a popular encore, "Out of the Dusk," tender with heart-appeal.

"At the King's Court," Sousa's three-part royal suite, was vigorous, decided stressing of brass in continued and voluminous bursts of sound making the walls resound. This number, which might have been heard to better advantage in a larger auditorium, vividly displayed the rhythmic swing and force marking Sousa's works, being followed by the encore, "U. S. Field Artillery," a dramatically spirited trombone quintet.

Silver clarity of Marjorie Moody's lyric soprano rippled from the familiar grace of Strass' "Blue Danube," the soloist's dainty personality adding a feminine charm which relieved any touch of monotony. She rewarded ovations of applause with two contrasting encores, "Comin' Through the Rye" and "The Nightingale," realistic, melodious, with flute obligato.

Dramatically passionate, Wagner's emotional triumph, "Prelude and Love's Death," from "Tristan and Isolde," was presented with intensity, encored by a favorite, typical Sousa march, "Semper Fidelis," its cornet octette dynamically impressive.

Members of the Santa Ana high school band, gay in white and cardinal, will cherish vivid memories of their part on the unusual program, playing the favorite "Washington Post March" under the famous "March King's" direction. Another courtesy extended the school by Sousa's band was its playing of the overture "In the Land of the Missions," by S. J. Mustol, director of the high school band, Mustol's direction of his own overture being a novel feature.

Favorite selections from operas of Victor Herbert were sensuously colorful beneath Sousa's baton, the novelty encore, "Whistling Farmer," (Fillmore) contrasting humorously. A Saxophone octette in "You're a Real Sweetheart" lent a popular jazz note, while the fun-provoking "Simpfunny in Deutsch" brought down the house in riotous applause. Martial, surging with vitality, "Parade of the Gendarmes," (Lake) preceded "Minnesota," a new, definitely melodic march from Sousa's fertile pen. The familiar request encore, "Stars and Stripes Forever," was presented with a novel piccolo sextette, cornet octette and trombone quintet.

Heard in Grossman's "Ghosts of the Warrior," Howard Goulden, xylophone soloist, proved himself an able artist, his spirit, certainty and poise contributing to this number's pleasing effectiveness, encored by a delicately appealing medley of popular airs and a second encore, "High Hat," syncopated, modern. Vividly sparkling animato of Ponchielli's classic "Dance of the Hours" appropriately concluded the

SOUSA PAYS UNUSUAL TRIBUTE TO MUSTOL IN ASKING HIM TO DIRECT BAND IN OWN NUMBER

"Now I'll have to go to work again," sighed Lt. Com. John Philip Sousa, yesterday afternoon, in the Santa Ana high school, as he left his comfortable chair to step up on the director's platform and take the baton with which S. J. Mustol had just conducted the famous Sousa band in one of Mustol's own compositions, the overture from "In the Land of the Missions."

The Santa Ana high school felt signally honored yesterday, according to the young men of the school band, for not only was the school responsible for bringing the famous director and his organization here for a concert on their noted Golden Jubilee tour, but the school band was asked to play one of the maestro's own compositions, led by his magic baton. And then, to complete the general satisfaction, was the unusual courtesy extended the school band's director, S. J. Mustol, in asking him to take Sousa's own baton and direct the most remarkable band in the history of the country, an organization of over 80 men.

"It is a pleasure for me to direct these young players," declared Sousa at the close of the school number. "I like the plan of Santa Ana schools, to instruct the young people in musical instruments of their choice through the grades, for it makes the high school band a more finished one."

Coming back to S. A.

"I expect to make another tour in two years and then I am coming back to Santa Ana."

While the noted conductor frequently asks a high school band of the city in which he is playing to give one number on the program under his direction, it is almost an unheard of thing to have him ask another man to direct his own organization, unless it is his assistant director, so the courtesy extended S. J. Mustol, when his own composition was played at yesterday's concert, was a doubly important one.

"It is a very fine composition and I shall give it a place on my future programs," Sousa declared at the close of the afternoon. Nor was he the only one to compliment the composer in this manner. Herbert L. Clark, director of the Long Beach band and a member of Sousa's organization for 20 years, came to Santa Ana yesterday to greet the Band King and hear the concert and he informed Mustol that he had broken one of his own band rules to play a single composition no oftener than twice a year by playing "In the Land of the Missions" 14 times during the last year.

Clark was cornet soloist and assistant manager of Sousa's band during his 20 years with the organization.

Mustol's friendship with Sousa dates back to the time when he, too, was a member of the world-famous band. It was during his connection with it that the band made one of its successful world tours, traveling through Japan, China, Egypt and Europe. Everyone who came in contact with Sousa yesterday remarked on his unflinching courtesy and kindness. Probably no better example of this was seen than in the very last minute preceding his hurried departure. The crowd was milling around him, eager to shake his hand—congratulate him on the wonderful afternoon—secure his autograph. His manager was urging him to the automobile which was waiting to whisk him over the hills to Pomona and the concert he was to direct there last night.

One very small urchin from the grade schools, who had thrilled to the music of the afternoon, pushed through the fringe of the crowd, wilding waving his program. "Oh, Mr. Sousa, please, PLEASE, write your name on my paper!" he cried. And disregarding the press of the crowd, and the impatient haste of his manager, the Band King pulled his arm loose from the latter's grasp and paused in all the turmoil to autograph one more eager lad's program.

brilliant presentation of this worthwhile musical event, which will linger colorfully in memories of music-lovers here for some time to come

WOMAN HAD NO AUTHORITY TO INSPECT HOME

Pointing out that official inspection of county institutions must be made through the state department of social welfare, Miss Anne Hannon, agent of the state department, called attention today to the fact that yesterday a person, representing herself as having authority as a representative of a humanitarian organization, had inspected the Orange county juvenile home without authority.

Miss Hannon stated that the inspection had been made in company with a newspaper reporter. Although private citizens are free to visit such institutions after gaining authority from the superior court judge, who is in authority, official inspections must be made with authority from the state department, Miss Hannon said.

It is understood that the person inspecting the home here recommended the installation of automatic locks. Miss Hannon pointed out that the state department recently had inspected the home and had found it to be one of the best in the state.

FORCED TO SIGN PAPERS BY INTIMIDATION, SUITS CLAIM

Ehlen and Grote company, Alfred Huhn, Fred Grote and Oscar Leichtfuss, of Orange, with F. C. Drumm, Santa Ana, were defendants today in three lawsuits brought against them by Elmer Ensign, W. S. Ensign and William Wilmer, also of Orange, in which it is charged that the defendants had forced the plaintiffs, through intimidation, to sign certain papers believed to have been deeds to Orange property.

According to the complaints, which were before Superior Judge

G. L. Freeman, sitting in Judge Mark's court today, Ensign and Wilmer were accused by the defendants with having stolen large sums of money. It was charged that the defendants forced them to sign the alleged deeds, threatening to publish reports of the alleged situation.

The complaints ask cancellation of the deed. Ensign's complaint requests damages of $15,000. F. C. Drumm and J. B. Tucker, of Santa Ana, represent the defendants, while Paul Bruns, of Los Angeles, is counsel for the plaintiffs.

Salesman Fined $250 On Charge Of Wild Driving

Floyd R. Wilson, San Diego automobile salesman, was fined $250 in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court this morning on a charge of reckless driving.

He was arrested last Sunday night, near Dana Point, by Constable Jess Elliott and Deputy Sheriff Don Mozley on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. The car he was said to have been driving collided with another machine in a line of traffic, the officers reported.

Wilson paid the fine.

Two Beach Men Held To Trial In Statutory Case

Bob Turner and Joe Hammond, Huntington Beach men, today waived their preliminary examinations on charges of contributing to the delinquency of two Santa Ana girls and were held to answer to the superior court by Justice Kenneth Morrison. Bail was fixed at $2,000 each, which neither made.

Turner and Hammond were arrested with Thomas Allen, who waived preliminary examination several days ago and was held to answer to the superior court. The arrests were made when deputy sheriffs "cleaned up" an alleged dive near Huntington Beach, where the girls were said to have been taken several times.

CHILD HOMES HERE FOUND OF SUPERIOR TYPE

Miss Anne E. Hannon, agent for the state department of social welfare, is in Santa Ana today and is making an inspection of homes in this county where children are placed for boarding by the Orange county social welfare department. Miss Frances Ahlene, children's agent for the county department, is accompanying her.

According to Miss Hannon the homes in Orange county are of a very superior type and she commended the manner in which the children are being cared for.

In connection with her visit she pointed out that homes which care for these children must be licensed and stated that, if any such homes are operating without permits, the permits should be procured through Miss Ahlene, who is located in the office of Walter Gregg, director of the welfare department here. It is possible, she stated, that this fact is not known by some of the home owners and she pointed out the fact for their information.

THREE INJURED WILL TELL OF EXPERIENCES IN JUNGLE LANDS

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rinard, of Tustin, and Herbert Houser, a salesman in the Rinard and Ebert automobile agency in Huntington Beach, today were reported as resting comfortably in the Rinard home, on Pasadena avenue, following a serious accident, last Tuesday, near Gila Bend, Ariz.

The three left Tustin Tuesday morning, by automobile, for Ada, Okla., where Mr. and Mrs. Rinard were to visit their daughter, Mrs. James M. Thompson (Edith Rinard) while Houser was to continue on to Howard, Kans., for a visit with his parents. When about 18 miles from Gila Bend, they encountered a stretch of gravel road and their car skidded and went into a deep ditch at the side of the road. Rinard, who was at the wheel, was injured about the chest, while Mrs. Rinard and Houser were badly cut about their faces by broken glass.

Passing tourists picked up the injured travellers and took them into Gila Bend, where they received first aid treatment in a hospital before they were placed on a limited train and sent to Yuma hospital for further treatment. They later were placed on the Sunset Limited and sent to Puento. They were met in Puento at 6 o'clock last night by friends and brought directly to the Rinard home.

Their injuries, while painful, are thought not to be serious and all three patients are expected to be out from under the doctor's care shortly. The automobile still is in Gila Bend, where it will be repaired.

BOYS' PRANKS GIVING POLICE MUCH TROUBLE

Pranks played by boys from the ages of 9 to 13 have caused the city police more trouble during the last 10 days than anything else, according to records at the city police station.

Few arrests have been made and in most cases the youths, when caught, were given lectures and sent home, but almost every day a report from some section of the city is received regarding conduct of boys in the neighborhood. Yesterday afternoon several boys were reported shooting an air gun in the vicinity of 1202 North Van Ness street. Officers went to the scene but the boys were gone. On November 7, several boys were accused of throwing rocks at a house at 509 Pacific avenue.

Several boys were reported shooting an air rifle at Mrs. E. J. Stanley, 521 South Sycamore street, on November 2. Boys broke the windshield of a car owned by Mrs. J. W. Howard, Santa Ana, route No. 3, on November 3.

Boys were reported throwing glass on the pavement near Bishop and Ross street on November 1. A 15-year-old boy was arrested for petty theft on November 6, in connection with the theft of a bicycle.

COAST ASSOCIATION SEEKING WIDENING OF STATE HIGHWAY; COMMITTEES FOR YEAR NAMED

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 9.—Appointment of new standing committees, reports on roads and water conservation and disposal projects and plans for the widening of the coast highway were the chief subjects coming before the Orange County Coast association last night, when half a hundred members and guests met at the White House cafe. Thomas B. Talbert, newly elected president of the association, presided.

Differences in opinion were expressed the sentiment of the voiced when a report of the water disposal committee, appointed to look into the project of bringing water from Santa Fe Springs to be dumped into Alamitos bay, was heard. J. W. Mitchell thought the committee of which he was a member had made a thorough investigation. It had inspected the system of separating the water and oil and had visited Santa Fe Springs from where the water is to be brought. He saw no danger to the beaches in the scheme.

Fears Spoilation

But O. N. Morrison, of Seal Beach, did not concur in the opinion as to the effect of dumping the water from the oil fields. He feared the oil content might rise and that sewage might eventually be run through the pipe line instead of merely water. He characterized the project as the first step in beach spoilation. Others of the committee believed that there was not much to fear. The committee was continued and instructed to watch the proceedings.

Road Aid Offered

In the absence of S. H. Woodruff, Secretary Harry Welch read a letter from J. P. Baumgartner of the highway commission in which the commissioner said he had taken up the project of widening and paving the highway before the commission. The letter stated that Mr. Baumgartner felt that he could "with reasonable assurance promise that the state will co-operate with local property owners along this highway whenever and wherever they are ready to undertake co-operative paving. That is to say, the state will be ready to do its part (paving the center of the street to the width of 30 feet) whenever the property owners are ready to pave on each side and carry out whatever other improvements they may decide on."

L. J. Burrud, of Dana Point, wanted the roads committee of the body to begin work at once on petitions for road widening, which organization. N. E. West, of Laguna Beach, thought that forming a number of districts would be an error, that the work should go forward in a single project. He advocated the Mattoon act as best designed for the widening and paving.

K. I. Fulton, of Corona del Mar, reported on a letter received from B. B. Meek, state highway head, concerning the viaduct asked at Newport in which it was stated that the problem was a new one with no precedent offered. No action was promised.

Road Importance Told

Reports on the progress of the Elsinore-Capistrano road were heard and Ray Baldwin said that it would bring Brawley and Imperial as close to the south coast as it is to San Diego.

Paul Bailey told the body that the flood control report would be ready soon, that special meetings of the supervisors and citizens committee would be held and that the consulting board of engineers would be in Santa Ana in January.

L. J. Burrud urged that action be taken to have a coast park established and expressed optimism that it would be. He thought the bond issue of $5,000,000 just voted but the starter for state parks.

New Committees

Committees appointed by Mr. Talbert were as follows: Legislation, S. H. Woodruff, Dana Point; J. P. Greeley, Balboa; J. S. Malcolm, San Juan Capistrano; Joseph A. Beek, Balboa; J. A. Armitage, Sunset Beach.

Advertising, James S. Farquhar, Huntington Beach; S. A. Meyer, Newport Beach; L. J. Burrud, Dana Point; F. W. Slabaugh, Santa Ana; V. D. Johnson, Orange; W. T. Lambert, Laguna Beach; K. P. Frederick, Long Beach; George Scherck, San Clemente.

Operator Of Gas Station Arrested On Liquor Charge

John A. Goetz, 56, service station operator in Delhi, was arrested yesterday afternoon by F. W. Howard, chief criminal deputy sheriff and other deputies who raided his place of business and are asserted to have found a small quantity of liquor.

He pleaded not guilty in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court this morning and was released on bail of $500. The preliminary examination was set for 10 a. m., November 15.

Howard reported that Goetz threw one pint of liquor into the highway when he and Deputies Thornhill, Humiston and Ryan walked into the service station.

EXPLORATION PICTURE WILL BE SHOWN HERE

With absolutely no desire at mercantile gain, the American Museum of Natural History will present an eight-reel picture taken by the Martin Johnson African expedition, next Wednesday and Thursday in the Tost Spurgeon theater, according to D. K. Hammond, principal of the high school. Every student in Santa Ana is urged to attend.

It took Martin and Osa Johnson four years to gather all the material which makes up "Simba," as their pictorial story is entitled, after the Swahili name for the king of beasts.

All students wishing to attend either the afternoon or night programs will be issued tickets which will entitle them to a reduction on the admission price. Those who attend the matinees will be excused from school early so that they may hear the prologue, which explains the expedition. Students from the grammar schools will be accompanied by a teacher to the matinees.

Among those who sponsored the expedition are Vice-President Charles G. Dawes, Theodore D. Robinson, assistant secretary of navy; William Gibbs McAdoo, Mrs. Nicholas Longworth and Gilbert Grosvenor, president of the National Geographic society.

The picture has no special plot, but is purely educational. It was made with the purpose in mind of getting action pictures of animals that threaten to become extinct in the next half century. The original sealed film is in the American Museum of Natural History and is not to be opened for 50 years.

LIFE IN CHINA TO BE DEPICTED IN PLAY

In the interest of missions, a group of young people will present in the Alliance chapel, Cypress and Bishop streets, tonight, a series of scenes depicting home life in China.

"How Yim Fong Found Peace," is the title of the production, and in its presentation there will be shown shifting scenes portraying the scholar, the coolie, the opium smoker, a baby carrier, etc. Chinese costumes will be worn.

J. H. Scott, who recently returned from a trip to the Orient, will exhibit Chinese articles and explain them. An idol, such as is used in a Buddha temple, also will be exhibited.

WORK CARRIED ON BY VARIOUS CHEST AGENCIES IS EXPLAINED AT PRE-CAMPAIGN GATHERING

In order to get a better understanding of the activities of the agencies of the Community Chest and that the chest campaign may be undertaken in the spirit of a community festival, A. J. Cruickshank last night invited a group of fifty friends to his home for a general discussion of the approaching campaign.

Cruickshank also invited representatives of the boards of directors of the various agencies to discuss informally with his guests the work of the social service agencies that participate in the chest funds. They presented a formidable array of facts showing the splendid work of the agencies.

O. H. Barr presented the work of the Y. M. C. A. and was convincing in his statements of the need of the preventive and constructive work that is being done by the Y. M. C. A. among the boys and young men of the community.

Works Among Boys
"The Y. M. C. A. building," said Barr, "is so arranged that the boys of the community have equal facilities with those provided for the young men. Hundreds of boys and young men weekly find healthy recreation activities for their leisure time at the Y. M. C. A. Recently we adopted a program of giving every youngster who applies a membership in the Y. M. C. A. without cost."

Col. M. B. Wellington and George Walker spoke of the extent of the Boy Scout activities, Walker making the point that statistics show that one out of every 27 boys in the United States has a delinquency record and that the boys' welfare agencies are a strong community insurance against juvenile delinquency and court records for growing boys.

"It is much better," he said, "to give boys an opportunity for healthy recreation than to have our tax expenses pile up in caring for them through our juvenile courts."

Miss Mabel McFadden outlined the far reaching program of the Y. W. C. A. in its activities with the young women and girls of Santa Ana. These present were impressed with the lack of adequate facilities, and voiced admiration for the splendid work that is being done in spite of this handicap.

J. G. Mitchell cited figures showing the vast extent of the work of the Salvation Army in Santa Ana. According to Mitchell 5307 persons have been given assistance through the Salvation Army in some way or other.

Charles Van Wyk discussed briefly the work the Veterans' Welfare association is doing in the relief of ex-soldiers whose families are in temporary difficulties.

E. S. Morrow, in discussing the Crippled Children's Relief association, said that the limbs of 38 crippled children at the present time were being straightened and being brought back to normal.

T. E. Stephenson, in discussing the Red Cross, outlined the work of that organization in the disabled veterans and the general disaster relief programs.

"It would be a wonderful thing," said J. P. Baumgartner, "if we could spread through the community the spirit of this evening's meeting, which is one of generous and gracious response to the appeal of these agencies that are doing so much to keep our community fine and wholesome."

Clyde Downing emphasized the spiritual value of the chest to the givers as well as those in need of help and laid emphasis on the desire of all those associated in the fund raising effort to make the campaign this year truly a community festival with emphasis on the spiritual value of the chest.

FELLOWSHIP IN DENTISTRY WON BY W. B. LASBY

An honor just accorded to William B. Lasby, dean of the college of dentistry, University of Minnesota, in Minneapolis, will be of much interest in this city, where Dean Lasby has two brothers and a sister residing, A. J. Lasby, Edwin W. Lasby and Mrs. John A. Teasmann, (Jennie Lasby).

Dean William B. Lasby was one of three faculty members of the college of dentistry elected to fellowships in the American College of Dentistry. The significance of this will be realized when it is understood that out of 70,000 practicing dentists in the United States, recognition has been given only 175 men during the last year for their distinguished service in this particular field.

Another honor accorded the Minnesotan was the fact that his first year as head of the college of dentistry produced what has been called the first perfect class in the history of the college. The title was bestowed because every one of the 59 graduates of the class immediately passed state board examinations: 53 in Minnesota, three in North Dakota, one in Montana and one in Idaho.

This is recognized as being a remarkable achievement because of the severity of state board examinations and the nervous strain entailed for entrants. Each applicant must pass an examination on the theory of the entire course, besides demonstrating his ability in fillings and crown and bridge work.

COLLINS ENROUTE TO SAN QUENTIN

Charles Collins, of Orange, found guilty of two felonies, rape and grand theft, last week, left here early this morning for San Quentin prison, to start serving two terms imposed on him by the superior court.

Collins is to serve from one to 10 years on the rape charge and one to 10 years on the grand theft charge. He was accused of stealing the automobile which he used to take a young Santa Ana girl to a point near Placentia, where he attacked her.

Sheriff Sam Jernigan and Deputy Henry Tuffree accompanied Collins north.

formal, and judging from the array of artists that is to participate, the event probably will fulfill all promises.

The musical program has been arranged and given approval by critics throughout the Southland so if it isn't too good KNX will not be to blame. The dedication program will open at 7 p. m., with band music and short speeches. At 7:30 several motion picture stars will present a couple of vaudeville numbers.

The Philharmonic orchestra, with Elsa Aisen, soprano soloist, will broadcast from 8 to 9 o'clock, and then consults from various nations will introduce artists in an "all-nation" program.

At 9:30 p. m., the Lubovskit trio will go on the air, to be followed, at 10 o'clock, by the comic opera, "Robin Hood." The opera, in turn, will give way to Gus Arnheim's orchestra and KNX soloists at 11 p. m.—and then it won't be long until 12 a. m.—

Glossary Of Radio Terms

Amplifier: A device which modifies the effect of a local source of power in accordance with the variations of input power, and produces an increased output of power.

Amplitude: The maximum ordinate of an alternating current or voltage characteristic; the maximum value the current or voltage attains during a cycle.

Antenna: A device for radiating or absorbing radio waves.

Antenna Resistance: An effective resistance which is numerically equal to the ratio of the average power dissipated in the entire antenna circuit to the square of the effective current at the point of maximum current.

Note—Antenna Resistance includes: Radiation resistance; ground resistance; radio-frequency resistance of conductors in antenna circuit and equivalent resistance of conductors in the antenna circuit; equivalent resistance due to corona, eddy currents, insulator leakage, dielectric loss, and so on.

Aperiodic Circuit: An electric circuit in which a voltage impulse will produce transient current in one direction only. The word aperiodic means "without period." Free oscillations are not possible in an aperiodic circuit.

Arc Transmission: The transmission of radio messages by continuous waves produced by an electric arc.

Atmosphere Absorption: Diminishing of the amplitude of electromagnetic radiation due to absorption of energy by the atmosphere.

MARTIAL MUSIC ON SPEARMEN'S REVIEW

With the approach of Armistice day, vocal and instrumental Spearman will review many of the songs so popular a decade ago, during the Wrigley Review broadcast from New York through the NBC system from 6 to 7 o'clock tonight, Pacific standard time. KFI will rebroadcast.

Plunging into march rhythm, the program opens with Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever," played by the orchestra. A vocal ensemble follows with the wistful melody of "There's a Long, Long Trail."

An enterprising Spearman will play George M. Cohan's wartime song hit, "Over There," as a banjo solo. The contralto sings of "Roses of Picardy" and a male quartet presents Robinson's "Memories of France," reminiscent of the American abroad.

The program concludes fittingly with "Keep the Home Fires Burning," the Canadian marching song which will be sung by the whole assemblage of Spearman while the orchestra accompanies them.

Three Football Games On Ether Waves Saturday

There will be no lack of football on the ether waves tomorrow, if all the stations scheduled to broadcast descriptions fulfill their promises. The far east, middle west and Pacific coast will be represented by these football classics of the air.

KPLA will broadcast the Army-Notre Dame game Saturday, starting at about 11 a. m. The game will be played in New York City.

KFWB's contribution will be the Purdue - Northwestern struggle, in Evanston, Ill. Several Los Angeles stations will broadcast the U. S. C.-Arizona battle, in the coliseum.

Close Harmony On Olympian Program

The Olympians will be heard in a program of close harmony numbers tonight, between 9 and 9:30, KGO broadcasting.

Although comparatively new to the radio audience, the Olympians seem to have made quite an impression with radioland and are fast on the way to the top in their bid for radio fame.

D. C. CIANFONI WRITES MARCH FOR NEWPORT

An interesting feature of the regular weekly rehearsal of the Santa Ana Municipal band, last night, was presentation of a new March, "Newport Harbor," composed yesterday by Director D. C. Cianfoni, to George McLeod, secretary of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce, who was present at the band meeting.

The new march was composed by Director Cianfoni as an expression of friendly sentiment toward the Newport harbor project, which he feels all true-spirited citizens should encourage.

After the march had been played for the first time, Harry Hanson, president and manager of the band, presented the new score to McLeod in behalf of the band and its director. Expressing his gratitude, McLeod stated his belief that this courtesy would strengthen the friendly feeling prevailing between Santa Ana and Newport Beach.

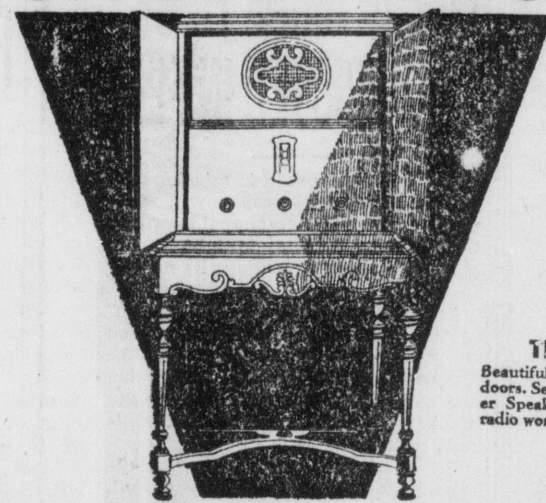

During last night's rehearsal, the band also played the Andante from the overture of Verdi's "Joan of Arc," together with selections from Christmas songs which will be presented at the special Christmas program to be given by the organization on December 14. The new march, "Newport Harbor," which created an especially good impression on its hearers, is considered by Cianfoni to be one of the best of his many marches. Of interest is the fact that the director composed the piano score for this march in less than an hour and 45 minutes. He is arranging the music of the march for 50 instruments and it will be given its first public hearing at the Armistice day parade, in Orange, next Monday, at which time, according to its usual custom, the band will feature only marches composed by Cianfoni.

Besides symphonic and triumphal marches composed by the director, his many marches include "La Vera Roma," "Primavera," "Ricordo di Porto Ceresio," "Fenatic," "Vita Nuova," "Alcyon Park," "Elvira," "Salute to Erie," "Noble Hearts," "Jetney," "Seconda," "The Gazette," "U. S. Glory," "The Allies," "The Winner," "The Knights of the Round Table," "Venice," "Monte Grappa," "The Lions," "Il Colosseo," "Itala American," "The Register" and "The Shriners."

THE unprecedented public demand for Majestic Electric Radio has made it necessary to greatly increase the manufacturing facilities in the six great Majestic factories so that radio enthusiasts who insist on having Majestic may not be disappointed. Majestic radio, now being produced at the rate of 3000 complete receivers each day, is being so eagerly purchased that the manufacturers have announced a production schedule of more than a million Majestic Electric Radio sets for 1929.

This announcement, coming at a time when dealers are experiencing difficulties in securing sufficient Majestic radio receivers to fill the orders that are literally pouring in upon them from radio enthusiasts who are determined to have Majestic, and nothing else, offers assurance that within a few short weeks everyone can enjoy the pleasures of Majestic reception, and at Majestic's sensationally low price. And here's consolation, nothing is more worthwhile while waiting for.

EUROPE ADOPTS
QUOTA SYSTEM
ON IMMIGRANTS

By RALPH HEINZEN

PARIS, Nov. 9.—(UP)—Once vilified and classed as unfair to humanity, the quota system of immigration restriction created by the United States to check the flow of emigrants from overseas, is slowly being adopted under only slightly different form all over Europe where new immigration problems have been created by the industrialization of the Continent.

When Secretary of Labor Davis was in Europe recently, on a tour of study of labor conditions, he estimated that 5,000,000 Europeans and Asiatics were waiting for their turn to come into America and if the bars were lifted tomorrow every ocean liner would be filled on every westbound passage for 18 months with nothing but immigrants and still the tide would flow westward.

France today finds herself in much the same position the United States was in a few years ago. She has enough work for her own population but not enough for the unemployed of all Europe and England. Consequently she has erected bars, without any fuss and as quietly as possible.

Italy is doing the same thing. A Frenchman who wants to go to Italy to work finds his way barred with enough red tape to trip him unless he is a specialist in some particular trade which Italy particularly needs. Spain is ready to export, rather than import labor, and taxes are levied so as to discourage foreign laborers.

England long ago barred Continental workers, for her own unemployed are providing a problem which several successive governments have been unable to solve.

Labor Blames America

Labor leaders all over Europe openly blame America for the condition but government officials cannot blame the United States for the immigration stand she took. When the bars of American ports were leveled against mass movements of labor from abroad into the United States, there was created a vast labor surplus which is today estimated at 10,000,000 on the Continent, outside of Russia, and in the British Isles.

One of the problems of the League of Nations labor bureau is to find something for those ten millions to do. Had America continued to import labor during the past ten years at the rate she did from the beginning of the century until the end of the war, this surplus would not exist today.

Poland is teeming with factory and farm workers. They are being reorganized into colonizing expeditions and sent to South America. More than two million acres have already been turned over in Brazil to these Polish immigration groups and they settle into communities where they carry on the life and traditions of old Poland.

So vast is the movement of Polish labor towards the new world that ocean steamship companies are in a race for the carrying of this mass. Even French lines have stretched their services up into the Baltic, where they compete with Germans and British in carrying the million Poles a year into Argentina, Brazil and the United States.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—A new national figure arose today from the ashes of the Democratic party—Governor-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York.

Drafted as the Democratic gubernatorial candidate to strengthen the Al Smith presidential ticket, Roosevelt outran his party's chief. Despite the crushing defeat administered Governor Smith in his home state, Roosevelt was swept into the governorship and pulled the Democratic state slate with him.

Not because he was ambitious but because he was a friend of Al Smith, Roosevelt ran for governor. Roosevelt, recovering from an attack of paralysis, was advised against it by friends. "The stress of the campaign will break you," they told Roosevelt. At first he listened. Party leaders kept urging him. It will help Al a lot, they finally pleaded.

"I'll run," said Roosevelt. "Lean heavily upon my invalid's cane, Roosevelt stumped the state vigorously, speaking more for Al than for himself.

Franklin and Al have been like crossed fingers for years. They met in the state legislature back in 1910 when Roosevelt licked the tar out of a Tammany candidate for the Democratic senatorship, to this day they hardly class Roosevelt as a Tammany man, which may influence a lot of Democratic delegates in 1932.

Roosevelt nominated Smith for the presidency first at the 1920 Democratic convention. He failed to put his man across but won the vice presidential nomination himself.

And in 1924, Roosevelt left his wheel chair to appear on crutches at Madison Square Garden to nominate Smith again. He made one of the most eloquent pleas in a convention famous for its oratorical masterpieces.

Then in 1928 Roosevelt tried it again—and put his man over. Perhaps in 1932, Roosevelt will be at the other end of the nominating speech, with the announced retirement of Smith and his virtual elimination as a future presidential possibility, Roosevelt is the logical contender. Republican leaders, with the sweet taste of victory on their tongues, are openly discussing this potential threat. A little previous? Politicians pride themselves as crystal gazers.

To Check
Flu-Grip

Fight the Germs with Vapors
Before They Can Get a Start

Treat all Colds Promptly
But be Careful not to Disturb the Digestion
with Too Much Dosing

Whether the epidemic of deep grippiness in this section is really the "flu" or not, every precaution should be taken to prevent its further spread. These attacks, which appear to be much more severe than usual, are generally accompanied by a headache, burning eyeballs, and aching scalp, and are often complicated by digestive disturbances. But they begin, as a rule, with an ordinary cold.

Too often, these colds are neglected until they have lowered the vitality and permitted the lurking germs of influenza, bronchitis, or pneumonia to "get a foothold."

The only safe plan is to attack a cold at the very start. A hot bath, a laxative, and vigorous application of Vicks VapoRub on the throat and chest at bedtime, will usually break up a cold overnight.

An External Treatment with a Quick, Twofold Action

For hours after Vicks is applied, its ingredients, time-tested remedies, such as camphor, menthol, eucalyptus, thyme and turpentine, are vaporized by the warmth of the body, and inhaled right to the inflamed air-passages. There they attack the germs directly, loosen the phlegm, clear the head, and permit you to get to sleep.

At the same time, the ointment too much "dosing" is so apt to do, fashioned poultice, "drawing out" all tightness and pain, and helping the vapors to break up the congestion.

Avoids Upsetting Stomach and thus Lowering Vitality

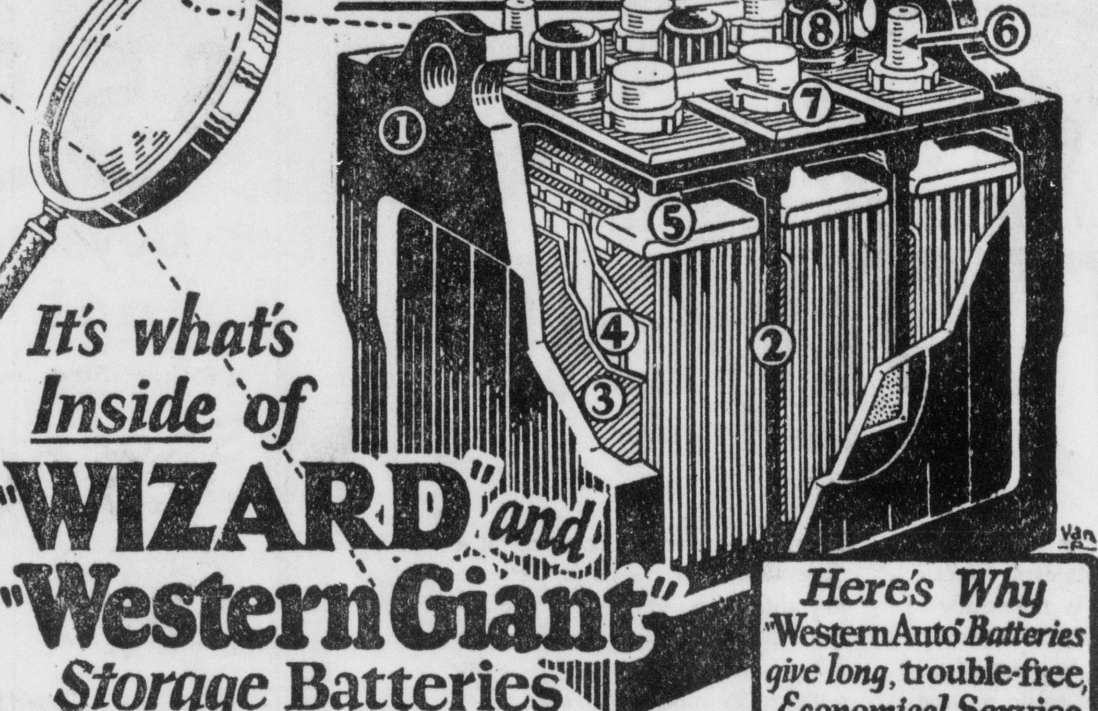

This simple external treatment cannot disturb your digestion, as too much "dosing" is apt to do. This is doubly important when "flu" is around, for your stomach, as well as your respiratory organs, must be kept in good condition in order to keep your body resistance at its highest level.

For this reason, too, mothers prefer Vicks for the frequent colds of children. It can be used freely and often, even on the youngest child, with no fear of upsetting a delicate stomach.

A Few Simple Precautions to Help Ward off the Flu

When influenza colds are prevalent, you can almost always prevent infection by snuffing a little Vicks every night and morning or before exposure to crowds.

Don't worry; build up your health and strength; eat plain, simple food; breathe pure fresh air; get plenty of outdoor exercise; keep away from crowded places; and—at the first sign of every cold—rub on Vicks VapoRub.—Adv.

SEASIDE FATAL TO YOUNG LOVE MINISTER SAYS

LONDON, Nov. 9.—(UP)—Advice on five steps along the road to happiness was given to a newly-married couple by the Rev. J. Shepherd at Islington Chapel, London, recently.

The Rev. Mr. Shepherd also lamed the sea for breaking up homes and causing unhappiness.

"The sea is a delight to children," he said, "a stimulant to the young, but a danger to youthful love. Young people change very quickly y the sea. Many hopes and ones have been broken this year y seaside flirtations."

According to Shepherd, the five steps to happiness are:

1. Believe it is the will of God that you should live a happy life together. Help your neighbor, but do not give him unsolicited advice.
 2. Speak to the earth, and it will teach thee. Make friends of birds and trees and flowers. Avoid the dangerous attractions of seaside resorts. The sea disturbs youthful love.
 3. Prove all things; hold fast that which is good. Do not read books on marriage and crime. Many were written by morbid and miserable people.
 4. Work out your own salvation, and do not listen to middle-aged mischief-makers.
 5. Live a vigorous life. Think in the lovely things, and God will bless you and make you a blessing.
- "People blame Blackpool and Brighton, famous English seaside resorts, when they should blame the disturbing influence of the sea," he concluded.

HUSBAND DISTRIBUTES BOOKLETS

Wife Tries Compound

Every year the Pinkham Medicine company distributes about 30,000,000 booklets from house to house. Mr. Ted Hinzman does this work in Los Angeles.

His wife writes: "It was in these little books that I read about so many women being helped by the medicine. I thought I would give it a trial and I can truly say that it has done me good. My neighbors and friends ask me what I am doing to make me look so much better. I tell them that I am taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

TRIP THROUGH WALNUT HOUSE SHOWS ANOTHER INDUSTRY IN WHICH NOTHING IS WASTED

"Well, well! So this is a walnut house! I've eaten Diamond brand walnuts for ever so long in the east, and now that I'm in California I'm going to go through this place and see what a walnut house is like." The speaker was one of a party of four, two women, one man and a little girl, and they stood just within the doorway at the plant of the Santa Ana Walnut Growers' association, just east of the Santa Fe tracks on East Fourth street, waiting for Arthur Confer, the house superintendent, to show them around.

IN PRISON FOR 45 YEARS, HE CALLS IT HOME

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 9.—(UP)—Walls have not a prison made—but have made a home for Henry Scrivens, negro, now in his 45th year of confinement at the state penitentiary.

Decrepit, partially paralyzed, the prisoner who began his life within the walls in 1885 for "burglary and larceny" fears more than any other one thing—freedom. He runs away from outsiders and when granted a parole in 1924, came back tearfully after three months, begging to be allowed "to come home again."

No one knows what Scrivens stole—Scrivens himself has forgotten in these later years for his memory has failed but some say it was an anchor from a boat. The prison record simply says:

"Henry Scrivens. No. 19,889. Charleston county. Burglary and larceny. Sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge Watts in 1885. Sentence suspended June 11, 1924 and voluntarily returned Sept. 27, 1924."

It is the old negro's duty keep the second floor of the prison infirmary clean. Prison officials say it is spotless. From the second floor of the infirmary to his cell tier is Scrivens' world. He will only venture into other corridors and weeps when in any other part of the prison.

Scrivens has outlived all other prisoners who came here during the past century.

A SOUNDLESS WHISTLE

PARIS, Nov. 9.—Police of this city now have whistles with which they may summon help without making an audible sound. The notes are pitched so high that the ear cannot detect them. But concealed microphones get the signals, in Morse code, and flash the message to police headquarters, where flying squads are always ready to dash to the scene.

Yesterday was a busy day for Confer, for the season is drawing to a close and the large force of workers at the plant had planned a special surprise for him in advance of the wind-up of work. When shifts changed at 1:30 yesterday afternoon and the big store-rooms were filled with hurrying women, Confer suddenly was surprised to see J. E. Gowen, secretary-manager of the association, step forward and, with a few words of explanation, hand him a package. The package contained a handsome gold watch and chain with gold knife, the gift of the workers under the superintendent and the executives of the association.

Although it took the house superintendent some little time to recover his composure, he soon was ready to take the party of easterners through the walnut house, showing them the entire process of preparing the nuts for final distribution under the famous Diamond brand.

Cleaned and Bleached

He pointed out the sacks of walnuts just as they were received from the growers and weighed in, numbered and tagged. He then showed the first step in the process—that of cleansing and bleaching the nuts in a lime bath from which they were lifted to the top floor, and while still wet, were given their first culling by a group of men, who, with their hands protected from the cold, wet walnuts, by old gloves, take out the broken nuts, the badly discolored ones and the "blows," those in which the kernels are dried and shriveled.

The huge drying bins, in which they undergo the next treatment, were visited and the easterners watched the nuts flow noisily down through chutes to the bins, swept by a current of air. The big cylinders which assist in the grading were also of much interest, as were the chutes over whose rollers the nuts tumbled gaily, while busy women picked out all the culls but could see as they rolled past.

The final culling was done up in "seventh Heaven," as the workers have humorously termed the big roomy loft. There a group of women preside at the finish belt and if any culls have slipped past the earlier watchers, they are snatched out here.

Then into big bins again for the rank and file, and there they await the visit of the Los Angeles inspectors, who pick at random, 100 nuts from each of three different assortments. These 300 walnuts give him a pretty close estimate of the entire assortment and after his report the walnuts are ready for the four marking machines. But only the "diamonds" have the honor of going through the machines and wearing the diamond brand. The second grade, known as "emeralds," are not marked, although they go out to the Los Angeles house as Diamond brand nuts, but to be sold as seconds.

Culls Are Cracked

The actual culls go to the cracking machines, and all the broken meats are carefully picked out and sorted by another group of women. These meats find a ready market, while those that are not saleable, are put through a process with the shells that makes them invaluable food and grit for fowls. So that like every modern industry, there is little or no waste product in a modern walnut house.

All these processes were watched with interest yesterday, but equally interesting were the side-lights on the friendly spirit among the workers. The presentation of the watch was an exemplification of this spirit, but equally important was the gift of a canary, in its gilded cage, to Mrs. Clara McMeekin, forewoman in the finishing department. The bird came from the women workers under her, and a similar group on the "No. 1 belt" presented their forewoman, Mrs. G. C. Spray, with a set of china dessert plates. The latter group also shared a general gift exchange, in which each one present gave and received a present, according to custom when the year draws to a close.

Most people who suffer, either occasionally or chronically from gas, sourness and indigestion, have now discontinued disagreeable diets, patent foods and the use of harmful drugs, and stomach tonics, medicines and artificial digestants, and instead, follow the advice so often given in these columns, take a teaspoonful or four tablets of Bisurated Magnesia in a little water after meals with the result that their stomach no longer troubles them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Bisurated Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time because they know this wonderful anti-acid and food corrective, which can be obtained from any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation, and make digestion easy. Try this plan yourself, but be certain to get Bisurated Magnesia especially prepared for stomach use.—Adv.

"MOONSHINE" USED AS PAINT REMOVER

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 9.—(UP)

The joke about some of the boot-leg whiskey which is confiscated being nothing but "paint remover" was made a reality here when assistant Police Chief Kuykendall, head of the vice squad, effectively used a quart of liquor for that purpose.

Old window signs, which had become obsolete because of police changes, had to be removed so that new signs could be painted. Negro porters, scratching on Chief Kuykendall's window with a razor blade aroused the chief's ire.

"Wait a minute, Slim," the chief said, "I've got an idea."

Sniffing through his liquor stock for a confiscated quart, he returned and with a small cloth gave the letters an application. Immediately they disappeared.

TUSTIN

TUSTIN, Nov. 9.—Mrs. Laura Deuser entertained little Donald Pritchard upon the occasion of his sixth birthday. Refreshments were enjoyed by Bobby Metz, Morrison and Roland Dale, Bennie Ashcraft, Robert Davis and Donald Pritchard.

At midnight Tuesday night the election officers for Tustin No. 2 precinct were surprised by a luncheon of avocado sandwiches from Mrs. Jesse Kiser, also a pot of coffee, cream, sugar and golden brown toast brought in by C. A. Weise. Those enjoying the luncheon were the Rev. S. F. Shiffer, Charles Logan, John Kiser, P. S. Fowler, Mrs. Mabel Cook and F. Stone.

SENTENCED TO ACT

MANILA, Nov. 9.—(UP)—Amateur theatricals in some parts of the world are considered punishment for the audience. Not here in Manila they class as punishment for the actors.

Members of the Bachelors' club of the University of the Philippines, who violated a school rule in giving a dance without a corresponding literary program, have been sentenced by the faculty to stage a dramatic performance and receive a public reprimand.

STORM FAILED TO DIM SPIRIT OF PORTO RICO

SAN JUAN, P. R., Nov. 9.—Porto Rico, cyclone-torn and almost ruined financially, is displaying splendid fortitude, carrying on relief measures still necessary nearly a month after the San Felipe storm and preparing to rebuild.

That tribute to the spirit of the islanders of this United States possession was paid by Muna Lee, well-known in the United States as a poet, in a United Press interview. In private life Muna Lee de Munos Marin, wife of a prominent Porto Rican, she and her two children went through the hurricane without injury when "it seemed as though all of San Juan was being blown through our yard."

"The finest, sanest courage I've ever seen," Miss Lee said of the people. "They have the tranquility of unperturbed courage and good humor."

Miss Lee who is director of the Bureau of International Relations of the University of Porto Rico, told proudly of the "carry on" spirit of her institution and of the leading part it took in relief and rehabilitation work. The university was one of the institutions hardest hit by the storm; the parents of many of the 1,200 students registered for the fall term before the storm were ruined in the wreck of tobacco, coffee and grapefruit plantations.

But the school reopened Oct. 1 and classes are continuing on a campus whose fine old trees were torn down by the storm. The books of the library will bear the scars of water-soaking for many years. Many roofs torn off by the wind were hastily replaced and rebuilt.

The University authorities led in organization and direction of relief work after the great disaster, and Chancellor Benner sent through the United States Press the first comprehensive story of the tremendous damage done to the island to be widely printed in the United States.

serve officers training corps pass officers training corps patrolled many devastated spots after the storm. Three members of the faculty made a long trip into the interior on foot which resulted in the first survey showing the widespread destruction of the storm and the destruction of the homes of about 5,000,000 persons.

BOYS GET REWARD FOR AIDING WOMAN

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—(UP)—A new way to earn water-melons, ice cream cones, candy and other delicacies prized by youth was found by David Reed, 11, and Vincent Morris, 10, a Negro boy.

They were playing in the street when they saw a drunken man strike a woman. As she fell the man walked away and the two boys ran to help the woman. Then the man came back and struck David just as a policeman came along.

In court later Judge Sylvan Lazarus declared that the fact the man was not quite responsible due to his condition was all that kept him out of jail.

"How much money have you?" asked the judge.

"$4.80," replied the man.

"That's $2.40 for David and the same for Vincent," said the judge.

"If you want to accept those terms I'll suspend sentence."

The man accepted and David and Vincent dashed for a refreshment stand.

USE OF MOVIES FOR EDUCATION GROWS RAPIDLY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(UP)—Visual instruction in schools by means of motion pictures has developed rapidly in recent years, a report by the U. S. bureau of education showed today.

Fifteen thousand educational institutions, including everything from the university to the kindergarten, are now estimated to be equipped for motion picture projection.

Many state universities maintain film libraries and regularly supply educational films to schools and community organizations in their states. Yale has co-operated in producing an American historical film and Harvard is aiding in making films relating to science.

In a number of cities it is now the practice to equip every new school house with projection machines. Cleveland now has such apparatus in nearly every school. Use of this form of instruction is said to be increasing rapidly notwithstanding objections that learning through pictures is too easy and that it results in mental indolence.

Despite the recent progress, however, the bureau said, many film companies organized to manufacture educational films have been forced to the wall because enough schools were not using their product regularly to enable them to make a profit.

The number of text films which may be used in connection with daily teaching is still far from adequate, the bureau reported. Improved mechanical equipment and development of the portable machine has now virtually eliminated any operation problem, according to the bureau.

For the past two years the Eastman Kodak company, Rochester, N. Y., has been conducting experiments in 12 cities from Newton, Mass., in the east, to Rochester in the north and Atlanta in the south, on practicability of motion pictures in education. Their report is expected to be published soon.

The World's Highest Paid Short Story Writer

Author of "Hamoresque",
"A President Is Born"

It was one of those situations that came about so gradually that there was no telling just how and when it had started.

Certainly the parents of Jenny, beer-eyed and bleary-eyed as they came to be, had no such designs on the future of their pretty daughter as the one which lay waiting for her in her early teens.

The McCosmicks had been a self-respecting family. The old folks a bit beery, as the saying goes, Tod given to a little too much of it before prohibition and Terry, his wife, joining with him perhaps too often. But they had never passed beyond the garrulous stage.

It was only when their daughter Jenny began to develop into something of a child prodigy of a song-bird, and unexpected sources of income started suddenly to stream into the coffers of the McCosmicks' that Terry and Tod, unexpectedly released of the responsibilities of keeping body and soul together, began to linger dangerously over the joys of the cup. No longer beer, either, but post-prohibition synthetic gin.

THE advent of little Jenny, their only, into the glamor of the concert hall stage and the motion picture studio, was windfall if ever there was one. Overnight, as it were, a hod-carrier became a gentleman of affairs, managing his daughter's professional business for her. Overnight, as it were, a washerlady became a lady of leisure, giving out her own frills and fancies to be faultlessly laundered, where before she had done the frilling of the fancies of others.

The McCosmicks rode into quick fortune on the talent of their pretty Jenny. At eleven Jenny could sing, Jenny could dance, Jenny could imitate, to the batting of an eye, the foibles of the great and near-great. She was a born entertainer. She drew applause from the pits of theatres as the clouds draw their rain. She was in great demand for benefits, she played child parts in pictures and did a vaudeville act in local theatres, where she was brought on the stage in a wedding cake and released trilling and yodeling in the costume of a tiny bride.

The rise of Jenny was the fall of Tod and Terry. For the first time in their lives they were able to afford the higher delights of the cup. No longer occasional draughts from the bucket which Jenny, as a little child, used to run with, to the corner saloon, in the days when that institution flourished. The McCosmicks could afford expensive gin and even whiskey now, from bootleggers who hustled it surreptitiously out of taxicabs in suitcases. Every evening, when the McCosmicks left Jenny at this or that stage door, they turned away together, like a pair of old automatons, to retrace their steps toward home for an evening at the table, until it was time to call for little Jenny.

Not much of a pair to come calling for their child, although, groggy as they were most of the time, where Jenny was concerned these two managed to keep their wits clear.

Never a day but Terry brushed her long curls, twined her long curls, bathed and powdered her fresh young skin and saw to it that her dresses were dainty delights.

Old Tod bought her toys, took care that sweetmeats she liked were on her pillow when she awoke mornings and tended her little menagerie of kittens and puppies and rabbits.

It was not until she was about thirteen that Jenny's parents, groggy to horribleness most of the time now, began to deteriorate in their attitude to her. It was not that they intended to do so. It was just that their veiny old faces were gin faces by now. Their hearts, gin-soaked. They were habitually drunk. They never failed in their meticulous task of taking Jenny to the theatre, but sometimes they staggered with her there.

The Children's Society, which had watched Jenny's case for years, but had never had the technical right to interfere, stood watching its chance, so to speak, for the groggy old couple to prove, by deed, their disqualification to act as Jenny's guardian.

Strangely enough, and by narrow margin, Jenny attained her majority of eighteen years without that defection taking place.

A pair of drunken old sots she had for parents, no doubt of that. But no proof of it in admission from the child herself. No proof of it from deed or misdeed from these parents themselves.

At eighteen the beautiful Jenny, still accompanied by her parents, would arrive at a stage door, bid them farewell, usually digging into her purse to hand them coins, and after her bright head had disappeared, oft would waddle the two old horrors of parents, gin bent.

It was shortly after Jenny's eighteenth birthday, while, because of her dainty qualifications, she was still playing child parts, that Tod and Terry began to be abusive. Their shouts and cries began to penetrate to the apartments of neighbors. Jenny's little face came to have a pinched, hunted look. Once, although she stoutly denied it, there was a welt from a blow all the way down her arm.

It was a hunted, frightened little entertainer who used to hurry through the streets between her parents those days. The Children's Society, no longer able to interfere, interceded nonetheless, and sent a representative from a juvenile court and the matron of an Eleemosynary Home to see the family.

It was an out and out case of great need for intervention. Jenny, whose nerves were gone, could only sob. Tod sat in a sullen huddle. Terry cried bubbles along her wet lips.

It was as unfit an environment as the social worker had ever stumbled across, for a girl like the frail Jenny. Even the matron, hardened by years of close contact with the grimness of life, felt herself near to tears.

The child was so palpably as tender and innocent as she looked. The parents were so palpably wretches of their weakness.

It was a difficult and complex case, the various societies and organizations regarding it as without their provinces and yet all agreeing that something should be done.

ONE night, when both Tod and Terry failed to call for Jenny because they were having delirium tremens at home, the organizations reached a hurried decision. In her panic and hysteria over the terrible climax that had descended upon her, Jenny was prevailed upon to sign a paper agreeing to place herself under the guardianship of a Home for Girls and permit her parents to be disposed of to the Eleemosynary Institution.

It all happened so quickly, so luridly, so through a glass darkly, that before she knew it, Jenny found herself leading the orderly, pleasant life of a boarder in a home for girls. For the first time in her life privacy and congenial surroundings were hers. Books were on a shelf over her bed. Teachers guided her reading and were helpful. Instructive talks were held in the assembly rooms on Sunday evenings and, as a charming entertainer, Jenny was a great favorite in the establishment.

Peace, quiet, beauty. For two weeks of relief, exhaustion, Jenny relaxed into this atmosphere. Then at the end of two weeks she was permitted to see her parents and talk over their plans for the future. They were right plans, Jenny knew that. Tod and Terry, cleaned, chastened, and with some of their self-respect back, were to be permanently sent to an institution near Syracuse, where they would be given sufficient drink to keep their nerves from maddening them, but where careful and helpful restriction would be imposed.

In their sober consternation, Tod and Terry walked into the institution reception room to greet their daughter. They were a beaten-looking pair, craving for her forgiveness, terrified of her displeasure, eager, in their tormented soberness, to do what was right and best.

It was pathetic, their willingness to sign the papers condemning them to a future in the institution. They were licked, handcuffed by society, stripped of power, ready to surrender.

It was easy to surrender in the name of Jenny. She was so fair. Her innocence so undefiled. Presently the torments of desire would begin to flagellate them again. But Tod and Terry, in their sober, chastened moment, were so meek—so heart-breakingly meek.

The social worker of the Juvenile Society shrugs her shoulders when she discusses the case.

Jenny has taken back her parents. The beaten look has gone out of their eyes and often it is Jenny who has the beaten look. It is better to her so. Anything is better to her than the licked look of surrender that Tod and Terry had turned upon her that horrible day in the institution.

Every evening Tod and Terry accompany their daughter to the theatre. They are old and about finished. Jenny, at twenty-six, still plays child parts. Every evening at eleven Tod and Terry call for Jenny. Most of the time they stagger.

Their daughter's eyes are the hunted, beautiful eyes of one who fanatically believes she is doing right.

"GYPSY PILOT" NEARING GOAL OF LONG TRIP

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., Nov. 9.—(UP)—Having completed 485,000 miles of a projected 500,000 mile journey "around the world" in an automobile, Nell Leon, Pittsburgh, Pa., passed through here recently. Miss Leon, known as the "American Gypsy Pilot," was accompanied by Jack Iser, mechanic; Jean Allen, official timer, and Grace Hall, secretary. The party left New York September 1, 1916, and for 12 years they have driven the same car over a good portion of the world stopping occasionally for replacement of parts. They have visited practically every country on earth and have crossed the United States five times. Members of the party earn their way as they go. Money for expenses has been derived from writing and lecturing, engagements with motion picture theaters and selling pamphlets detailing their travels. CHILDREN KILLED IN FALLS FROM BUILDING

While Mrs. Hazel Waldman of New York City was visiting at a friend's home on the roof of a New York skyscraper, her two children, Benjamin and Terrence, were killed in a fall to the roof of another building, far below. Mrs. Waldman says that while she was holding the baby, the other child, in playing, knocked the infant from her arms and both children fell from the roof. Mrs. Waldman, the two children and the father, Milton Waldman, newspaperman, are pictured above.

PAPYRI BURNED BY LAVA DEFY ARCHEOLOGISTS

HERCULANEUM, Italy, Nov. 9.—(UP)—A tantalizing problem is facing the experts of the government archeological office here, who are endeavoring to decipher a number of papyri burned by the fire and lava of the eruption of Vesuvius in A. D. 79.

The papyri which are partly charred and shiny, present the appearance of dried leaves. They are nearly all wrinkled and cracked.

In spite of their condition, it is still possible to perceive plainly lines of writing on them, which appear in black characters on a ground black by scorching.

The work of the Italian government experts is rendered still more difficult by the extreme fragility of the parchments, which tend to break into pieces unless most carefully touched.

The lettering of these important relics of antiquity is faint, and is only visible when they are held in certain lights.

It is hoped that photography will reveal the secret of these fragile relics of the past, and already a number of experiments have been made with rapid orthochromatic plates and mirrors electrically illuminated and placed at certain angles. A special camera with mirrors a couple of inches in diameter, which project lights at various angles onto the papyri is now being experimented with.

The state of the parchments, owing to their unequal burning and discoloration, is such that while sometimes a few words can be read consecutively, what follows is hidden in the black patches.

The color of the burnt papyri ranges from deep black to russet brown.

Man Killed While Fleeing Officers; Companions Held

ST. GEORGE, Utah, Nov. 9.—(UP)—Fatally wounded while fleeing from a posse of sheriff's officers, Jerry Wilson, 20, of Little Rock, Ark., died last night. His companions, Jack Williams, of Little Rock; Gladys Brown, 20, and Violet Sutton, 21, both of Omaha, Neb., are held on multiple charges of stealing gasoline, resisting arrest and stealing an automobile.

The girls said they were "hitch-hiking" to the Pacific coast from their home and were picked up by men near Salt Lake City Tuesday. At Paragonah they stole enough gasoline to continue their trip. A posse pursued them, and when they ran out of gasoline again, they stole an automobile, abandoning their own. More than 50 shots were exchanged before they were captured in Snow canyon, 12 miles north of here.

BEAUTY—HEALTH—CHARM

CHARM, the quality of attractiveness, was bequeathed to Everywoman by Mother Eve. Not every woman may be rated as "Beautiful" but all women may have charm.

Modern women know that beauty, or charm, without health, is as difficult to achieve as cake without flour. Beauty loses its lustre when ill-health comes to stay.

Beauty, a divine heritage, which some women have from birth, may be lost through carelessness. Others astutely and cleverly cultivate that charming, well groomed appearance which their friends expect and modern life demands.

An adequate supply of hot water, in the home, is necessary for the many daily Health and Beauty needs of those women who realize the importance of always appearing at their best.

Let us tell you how cheaply you may have a modern Welsbach Hotzone water heater installed on easy monthly payments.

OHIO, IOWA IN MID-WEST GRID
SKED FEATURE

By COPELAND C. BURG
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—Will Ohio stop McLain?

In all good schools of journalism one is always told never start a story with a question but just the same whether Coach "Doc" Wilce's pace-setting Ohio eleven will put chains on Mayes McLain, Iowa's immense Indian fullback, is the feature of tomorrow's mid-west football clashes.

And the answer to that question in all probability will determine the 1928 champion of the Big Ten conference.

Tomorrow's encounter at Columbus brings together the only two eleven undefeated in Big Ten contests. Both are superbly coached, machine-like eleven. Iowa has McLain, Armil, Glasgow and Pape but these stars are matched in Eby, Kriss, Coffey, Fouch and Holman of the Buckeyes.

McLain may prove the deciding factor in the game—if Iowa wins he is almost certain to be that.

Coach Burt Ingwersen of the Hawkeyes believes McLain is the world's best ground-gainer and he has built his machine around him in a series of new plays to be used against Ohio.

In other Western conference games tomorrow the slow-starting eleven of Father A. A. Staggs at the University of Chicago will play the tied but unbeaten Wisconsin squad at Madison. Purdue will play Northwestern at Evanston; Illinois takes a rest in meeting Butler at Indianapolis and Indiana plays the powerful but unfortunate Minnesota eleven at Minneapolis.

Michigan will attempt to sink the Navy, Notre Dame battles the Army and the all-conquering Nebraska eleven engages Oklahoma. Close scores should result in the games at Evanston and Minneapolis, while neither Wisconsin nor Illinois should encounter any trouble in winning as they please.

Minnesota, on past performances, figure a little better than Indiana and Northwestern may show an air game that will baffle Purdue.

AH, BUT HE'S BOBBY!
Robert Tyre Jones Jr., a $25,000-a-year newspaperman, said in one of his recent pieces commenting on the play in the national amateur golf championship:

"True, Von Elm was beaten in the first round at Brae Burn and was outlasted there by Voight and Johnston and possibly Dolp, although I am not certain whether Dolp lost in the first or second round."

We know several deskmen who would have said to a $15-a-week reporter: "Get in the files there and find out whether Dolp lost in the first or second round."

POOR ANDY COHEN
Fred Leach, rescued from the Phillies by that great humanitarian, John J. McGraw, has been assigned by his new boss to a permanent post in left field. Andy Reese, relieved of the substitute outfield role, will be moved to second base and Andy Cohen may be transferred from the park. And young Cohen may prosper some place where he will not be capitalized so commercially.

BEATINGS COME CHEAP
Harry Blitman, Philadelphia featherweight, was told by his manager, Boo Boo Hoff, that he was to get $32,000 for fighting Benny Bass. Blitman fought him and got knocked for a loop. And all he got was the beating, he claims in the petition in which he seeks a divorce from Boo Boo.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 9.—Coach "Nibs" Price and his 42 California Bears were to try out their cleats on a muddy stadium field here this afternoon in their last practice session before meeting Washington tomorrow. The Bears, accompanied by handlers, San Francisco sports writers, and a few of the "faithful," rolled into Seattle last night and taxied from the depot through the rain to the Olympic, their headquarters here.

Coach Price indicated that he may not start Benny Lom, flashy backfield star, who has not yet totally recovered from the mauling given him by Oregon.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 9.—The big games of the South tomorrow will be in Georgia.

Vanderbilt and Georgia Tech, each undefeated in and out of the Southern conference play at Grandfield, Atlanta. Unless a tie results, like last year, either one or the other will be eliminated from the close championship race.

Georgia, undefeated in two conference starts meets the University of Florida eleven at Savannah. The Gators have won all their games while Georgia lost one to Yale.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—Ohio State and Iowa, the only undefeated and untied teams in the Big Ten conference, meet tomorrow at Columbus in a game which seems likely to decide the 1928 Western conference football championship.

Wisconsin, which has only a tie with Purdue to mar its records, meets Chicago at Madison. Purdue and Northwestern clash at Evanston and Indiana and Minnesota meet at Minneapolis. The other two conference teams play outside foes, Michigan going to Baltimore for a contest with the navy, and Illinois aiding Butler in the dedication of a new football stadium, at Indianapolis.

Because of the championship dispute involved the Iowa-Ohio State game tops the schedule. The two teams are the leading contenders for Western gridiron honors, while Dr. John W. Wilce and Burton Ingwersen, the two coaches who a year ago were subject to alumni criticism are being praised.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 9.—Arriving for their first game against the University of Southern California in three years, the Arizona Wildcats pulled into town today with a squad of light but experienced gridironers who hope to give the Trojans a battle tomorrow.

Coach Fred McKale hid his athletes over to the Coliseum this afternoon for a workout and then prepared to tuck them away at the Huntington hotel for the night. Thirty-five Wildcat gridironers comprised the squad.

Bent on showing something that may earn them future use in more important games, the Trojan reserves will be out to mop up on the Wildcats—something they failed to do on Occidental. A complete lineup of subs is scheduled to start, although many of them have seen considerable service on the Trojan varsity.

Marsh Duffield will be the field general of the day for U. S. C.

Saints Meet Tough Foe

Glendale will be by far the hardest game the Saints have had this term. The Dynamiters would be up on top of the roost with Alhambra and Pasadena had it not been for a couple of tough breaks at Long Beach, the Jackrabbits making two touchdowns on intercepted passes, one after a 60 yard run and a second after a cool 98 yard sprint. Glendale "took" its other opponents like nobody's business.

Coach Bill Foote, Oliver's assistant, scouted that one for the Saints and said Glendale should have won by two touchdowns at least had it not been for its own passes. The Dynamiters made four times as many yards and stopped the Long Beach attack cold but was fortunate enough to let its own attack go haywire.

The Saints are in pretty fair shape for the impending classic although Johnny Keeler and Fletcher Buxton, first string reserves, are lost with injuries and illness, respectively.

"Red" Cooke, brilliant end, turned up with a sick spell yesterday and was not in suit but "Red" will be there Monday unless he is on his deathbed for he loves to play football and he knows the team needs his services badly. Lloyd Nuzum, the former Bakersfield boy who has been incapacitated for some weeks with a knee injury, is also in condition again and may possibly draw a starting assignment. Nuzum is the fastest man on the squad and he is blocking much better than before. Clarence Spencer, who has been ill, was in uniform yesterday and went through a long workout with the team. He will be able to play in the Saint backfield if he is needed.

CLAIMS WOMEN MORE SENSIBLY GLAD THAN MEN

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 9. — (UP)—Women are far more sensible than men in their present day mode of cold weather dress, according to Dr. Isaac D. Rawlings, state health director, in an interview here on winter health fashions.

Clothing ought to be such as to provide protection against chilling the body while the individual is outside and to prevent heat stasis, excessive perspiration, malfunction of the skin and too much relative humidity in the air spaces between body and garment while the individual is inside heated buildings. These requirements are met far more satisfactorily by the modern woman's dress than by that of men.

"The weight of a woman's cold weather clothing is about one-tenth of what the text books on hygiene figured on 20 years ago," said Dr. Rawlings, "while that of men has remained about the same. Women have abandoned heavy undergarments for the more sensible plan of protecting themselves against exposure to cold by wearing furs, woolen overgarments and coats that may be laid aside easily within doors."

"Men, on the other hand, cling to heavy undergarments which not only cause an unfavorable difference in the amount of heat radiated and the amount of perspiration but influence the functioning of the skin."

"One important factor in the difficulty with the winter garments of men is that they shut out light rays from the body so that the hands and face make up the whole area of the body exposed to these rays. This is especially true of garments that are lined. The light, undried garments of women admit light rays freely."

MENDOZA NOW LEADS MEXICO BANDIT GANGS

BY GESFORD F. FINE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 9.—Benjamin Mendoza, a bandit who sometimes operates almost on the borders of the capital, is seizing the front-page honors formerly held by the famous "El Catorce." The bandits or rebels who recently fought with federals on the Cuernavaca-Mexico City highway by Mendoza's men. The bandits, almost within sight of an automobile containing United States Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow and Mrs. Morrow were said to have been members of the Mendoza group.

Mendoza and Maximiliano Viguera is regarded as responsible for most of the recent holdups of motorists on the highways around the capital. In at least one of his attacks, Mendoza exhibited a savagery which is generally rare among the bandit gentry in Mexico.

This was the hold-up and assault of a dozen or more automobiles loads of Sunday week-enders on a visit to the famous cave near Cuernavaca. Besides being deprived of their money and valuables, several women of the tourists' party were assaulted brutally by Mendoza's men. The bandits, using the tourists' cars, also fired on a nearby village.

Facts of the holdup, including the details of the assault on the women, were slow in reaching the capital although as much as could be published eventually got into print. One of the victims was reported on excellent authority to be connected with one of the capital's most prominent families and had been married only a few days previously.

Mendoza's attacks on villages and towns in the state of Mexico and the region around Cuernavaca where he generally operates have on one or two occasions been extraordinarily relentless. At one point where he wiped out a small federal garrison, his men came away with 50 federal uniforms, according to a foreigner who was in the district at the time.

With himself and a picked band wearing the uniforms, Mendoza and 50 men entered another town in the guise of federals and asked for local volunteers to help hunt Mendoza. Twenty-seven citizens responded. They were barely outside the town, according to the story brought to the capital, when the bandits turned on the volunteers and killed them without warning.

Twice the Mendoza band, or a group believed to have been under his direction set loose wild locomotives on the Cuernavaca-Mexico City railway in an attempt to wreck passenger trains. Each time, fortunately, the locomotive wrecked itself.

Within the past few weeks, a federal escort of 25 men on a Cuernavaca train was completely wiped out by bandits, and the train burned. There were almost no passengers aboard and the dead were confined to the soldiery.

MUSICAL CLAN WORRIES DOGS AND NEIGHBORS AFTER WAITING SIXTEEN YEARS

BERKELEY, Calif., Nov. 9.—(UP)—The musical tendencies of a Berkeley family might have been tolerated by irate neighbors, but when the dogs of the vicinity as well as other pets became infected with the song bug it was too much.

The police were called into the investigation and found that some of the sons of M. L. Sanifur played the xylophone, some the clarinet and one of the daughters moaned on a saxophone.

The neighbors declared that the animals appeared moved by the music to a most distressing degree.

Police dismissed the matter with the declaration they would attempt to draft a practice schedule so the musicians could play part of the time while the neighbors could sleep part of the time.

By HAROLD P. MILLS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SHANGHAI, Nov. 9.—(UP)—Sixteen years of unwavering faith in the honesty of a penniless American, whom he aided years ago, has been rewarded by Sing Tsau-lib, a grey haired, aged Chinese hotel room-boy today is happy in the ownership of his own house and the knowledge that he has enough money to support himself and family for the rest of his days.

Here's the story: In 1912, Virgil Crumpacker, who originally came to Shanghai from Unionville, Missouri, a country town about 200 miles north of Kansas City, was ejected from a local hotel for non-payment of his bill. Crumpacker had lost everything he owned in ill-advised investments.

He had lived at the hotel many months and had a faithful old servant in the person of Sing Tsau-lib. The latter, with an abiding faith in his master, advanced from his hard-earned savings enough money to buy a third-class passage to America for Crumpacker.

The years rolled by but Sing still believed in his former master. To other old employees he would often say:

"Master come back this said some day; I no worry."

Every year on September 15, Sing would repair to a temple and burn joss sticks for his old master.

Crumpacker made his way to Alaska and eventually became well-to-do. He recently returned to Shanghai, compelled the now feeble Sing to quit work, purchased a home for him and gave him a considerable sum in cash.

Dam Will Not Cut Water Supply Of Two Companies

WILL RECEIVE SAME QUOTAS AS NOW USED

Relation of Orange county's water conservation project in the Santa Ana canyon to the Anaheim Union Water company and the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company activities in the region of the proposed lower dam site occupied the attention of the board of supervisors and citizens' advisory committee late yesterday when the two groups met in the flood control district offices here.

Arrangements which will be acceptable to the two concerns, whereby they will be assured of receiving, under satisfactory conditions, the same quota of water that they now use, will be worked out before definite action is taken in making final plans.

Hoy Investigating

W. W. Hoy, acting as engineer for both companies, is making an investigation of the situation in respect to the two companies and will report his findings.

A letter from the Anaheim Union Water company was read by Paul Bailey, flood control engineer, and pointed out that the lower dam site would be satisfactory to that concern providing it is assured of continuing to receive the same amount of water that it now secures and providing its pumping plants below the dam are not interfered with. The letter suggested that the dam site be moved upstream a slight distance. The question of one diversion of water for the two companies was discussed.

Bailey read two chapters in a tentative draft of his report on investigations made in Orange county and outlined probable contents of the first six chapters. The report in its present form is purely tentative and was read by Bailey in order that the officials present might become familiar with its nature and study the problem in co-operation with Bailey.

Tells Flood Dangers
The first two chapters dealt with matters which have been covered in progress reports issued from time to time by Bailey at monthly meetings of the groups. They pointed out the importance of water to Orange county, the number of acres unable for ranching, the flood dangers and the relation of the underground basin of the Santa Ana river to the water conservation project.

Other chapters outlined by Bailey deal with specific facts and problems relating to the several dam sites and canyons which have been studied and concluded with a summary of cost estimates. These chapters were not read, but probably will be taken up at a later date.

Wife Drinks With Other Men, Says Husband In Suit

Francis R. Bush today brought action for divorce against Sally D. Bush, asserting that she had a habit of leaving dance halls with other men, drinking liquor with them and standing with their arms around her, thereby greatly humiliating Bush and causing him extreme mental suffering.

Bush also asserted that his wife went riding with cowboys on the Irvine ranch, that she smoked, that she refused to clean her house or to prepare meals and that she bought expensive clothes beyond his ability to pay for them. The couple were married in 1925 and separated last January, according to the complaint, which was filed through C. D. Swanner, Santa Ana attorney.

FIRST CONCERT OF CANTANDO CLUB NOV. 20

Distribution of reserved seat tickets for the Cantando club concert, in the Yost Spurgeon theater on the evening of November 20, will be made in the Santa Ana Book store next Tuesday, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. It was announced today by A. H. T. Taylor, president of the organization.

The president pointed out that the tickets are for associate members only and that no direct sale of admissions will be made. According to Leon Eckles, director, Miss Harriet Henderson, soprano, who is to be the featured soloist, is a singer of charming personality, with a beautiful lyric-soprano voice.

Miss Ruth Armstrong will accompany both chorus and soloist. In the Cloykey number, "The Musical Treat," the accompaniment for which is written for four hands, Miss Armstrong will be assisted by Miss Eva Ramsey.

The program for the first concert by the male chorus, will be as follows:

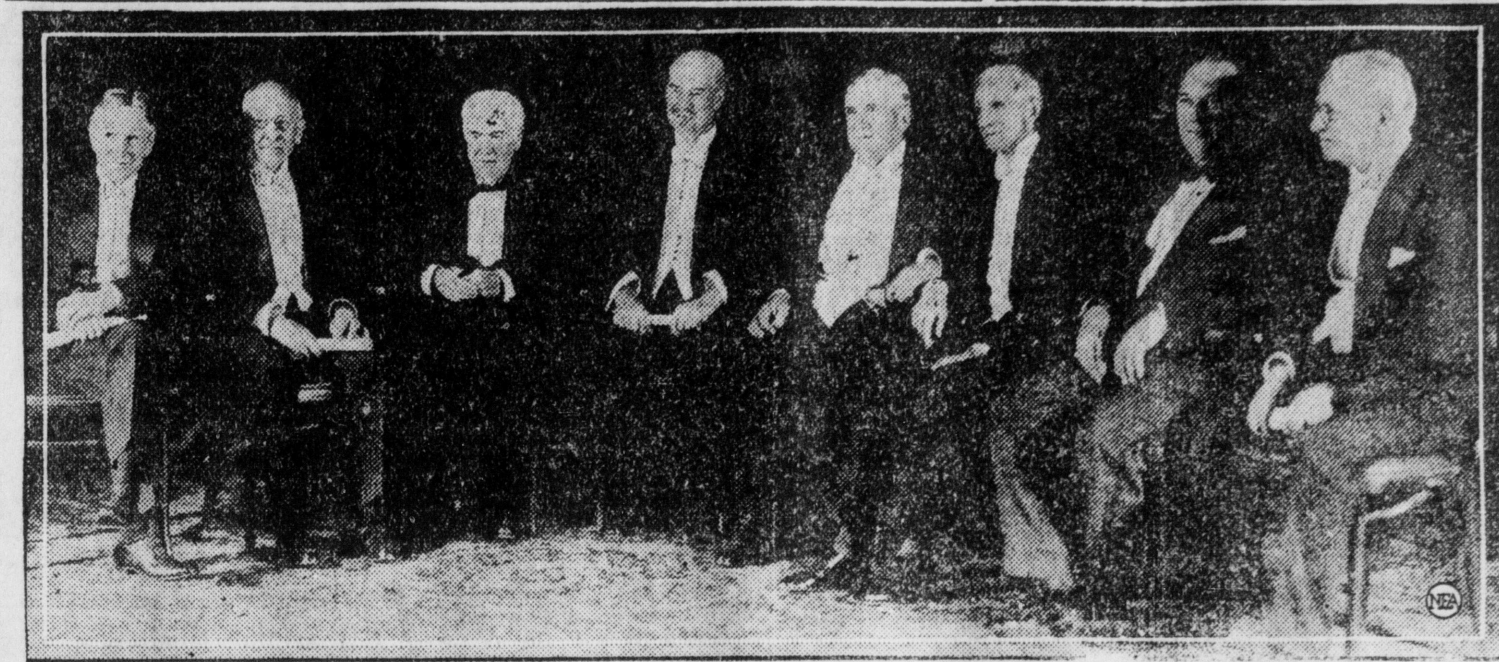

"To Arms" (J. H. Maunders) by Reginald Taylor; "Cossack War Song" (H. W. Parker); "The Long Day Closes" (A. Sullivan); Miss Harriet Henderson, soprano; (a) "A Burst of Melody" (Sellers) (b) "Butterflies" (Sellers) (c) "Serenade" (cycle "The Heart of Paradise") (McMillan) (d) "Joy Natts"; "American Ode" (R. Kountz), soprano solo by Miss Henderson and bass solo by Clifford Johnston.

Intermission.
"Chorus of Returning Pilgrims" (Tannhauser) (R. Wagner); "The Ladies of St. James" (F. C. Bornschein); "To a Wild Rose" (Edw. MacDowell); "The Musical Treat" (accompany for four hands) (J. W. Cloykey); "By the Beautiful Blue Danube" (J. Strauss), duet by A. J. Garraway and Fred L. Wilde.

SOCIETY ENTERTAINS

STORIES ABOUT CO. L RELATED BY HOLDERMAN

Stories of Santa Ana men, who were members of Company L, commanded by Col. N. M. Holderman, when the company was on guard duty in San Luis Obispo and in training at Camp Kearny, by Colonel Holderman, now commander of the soldiers' home in Yountville, near Napa; selections by the chorus of the American Legion auxiliary, and interesting details of the life of John Phillip Sousa by Herbert Clark, leader of the Long Beach band, were features of yesterday's meeting of the Santa Ana Lions club.

Holderman was in Santa Ana to be guest of honor, last night, at a dinner given by his old company boys and was the guest of City Attorney Charles D. Swanner, who introduced him to the club. Holderman commented on the soldiers' home and plans for a substantial improvement program, made possible, he said, by funds received from boxing contests in the state. The sum, he said, would approximate $450,000. Stories were told by Holderman about "Buck" Flips and Jack Fisher, Register cartoonist, and the speaker also related some amusing incidents in which his company members involved him.

Clark was leading cornetist with Sousa for a number of years, during which time he occupied a position with the band leader similar to that of a private secretary. Declaring that the band leader was a "good man" in every respect, Clark recounted some of the experiences of the leader in developing and maintaining band organizations.

Bruce Munroe officiated as program chairman. The glee club, led by Cecil Willis, was greeted with thunderous applause at conclusion of its numbers, "Recessional," "Christ in Flanders" and "The Soldier's Return."

MRS. KNIGHTS NAMED HEAD OF AID SOCIETY FOR 17TH TERM AS RECOGNITION FOR SERVICE

Mrs. T. D. Knights, of 428 Fruit street, this week started her seventeenth consecutive term as president of the First Christian Aid society and therein lies a story of public service in which the aid society, behind the untiring efforts of Mrs. Knights, has earned and dispensed more than $12,000.

The many successes of the Christian church organization, under her leadership, attested by that rather amazing sum of money, explains why Mrs. Knights' election as president for her seventeenth term was unanimous.

Disbursement of this sum of money forms an interesting history of the society's activities during the 16 or more years. At the time Mrs. Knights assumed the presidency, the church at the corner of Sixth street and North Broadway, had been completed and the Rev. A. F. Roadhouse was pastor. He was pastor, later, of the South Pasadena Christian church.

Spent in Good Works
The basement dining room of the church was the scene of many important gatherings, for at that time the chamber of commerce and other civic organizations found it well adapted for their needs, since they had no quarters of their own. These all added to the society's treasury, but the funds in turn went out in good works. The church community house, which has served many church and civic needs, was built. Church equipment, including carpets, chairs, pianos, etc., was purchased. The Y. M. C. A. building fund received generous contributions from the church women. The California Christian Home for the Aged, in San Gabriel, looks to the society for much of its support.

For eight years, the society has sent a group of young people to the summer conference of Christian young people, a training school which formerly met at the Christian college, Los Angeles, but more recently has been assembling at Idyllwild.

Through the World war, the loyal women toiled unceasingly at Red Cross work, their president, Mrs. Knights, entering the group for Mexican Red Cross work, under Mrs. Victor Montgomery, at Roosevelt school. The society, as well as its individual members, bought generously of Thrift stamps and Liberty bonds.

One of the aid society's most famous activities, however, is the annual newsboys' dinner, instituted eight years ago by Mrs. Knights and her workers. The

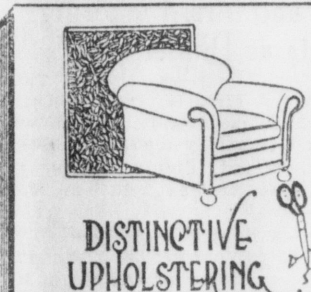

Charles Tibbetts Named Secretary Of Vocation Body

Charles L. Tibbetts, instructor in the mechanical arts department of the Santa Ana high school, has received announcement of his election to the office of secretary of the southern division of the California Vocational association and to the position of contact man in the Orange county district of the same association.

Election of officers of the southern division was held at a meeting of the entire association in Los Angeles.

The C. V. A. is composed principally of teachers of vocational subjects in high schools and junior colleges in California. Because of the numerous types of vocations offered for instruction now, and because of the incompatibility of their respective interests, it was deemed necessary recently to divide the organization into separate craft divisions, each division holding its own meetings.

Petition Seeks Dissolution Of Santacala Mills

A petition for dissolution had been filed in the superior court today by the Santacala Woolen Mills, of Santa Ana. The company, composed largely of Santa Ana men, formerly owned and operated the woolen mills on East Washington avenue. The plant was sold some time ago.

The petition for dissolution was signed by the board of directors, the signers being P. A. Robinson, J. K. Hermon, S. H. Finley, J. H. Northrop, W. M. Smith, H. J. Forgy and C. S. Crookshank.

The petition recites that decision for dissolution had been reached on October 20, when two-thirds of the shares of stock were voted in favor of the move. The petition was filed through Scarborough, Forgy and Reinhaus, Santa Ana attorneys.

OPERATOR OF GAS STATION IS ROBBED OF $3

Forcing M. W. "Dad" Sweetser, service station operator, of 902 Seventeenth street, to get down on his knees, a lone bandit "covered" him with a pistol early last night and robbed the station's cash register of $3 in change, according to a report made to the city police.

From a description of the bandit he is believed to be the same man who, on Wednesday night, held up Harold LaPrell, manager of the Jumbo ice cream stand at South Main and Walnut streets and escaped with $20 in cash.

Sweetser reported the bandit drove to a point opposite the service station in a Chrysler sedan, parked the car and leisurely walked across the street to the station. He entered the building, flashed a small revolver and ordered Sweetser to get down on his knees. Sweetser complied and the bandit walked over to the cash register and ransacked it.

During the holdup, the bandit kept his left hand over his face as a mask, it was reported. He was reported as wearing a light suit, which corresponded with that worn by the man who robbed LaPrell. Sweetser said he weighed about 170 pounds and was about five feet, 11 inches in height.

Chief of Police Claude Rogers and Officer E. E. Perry are investigating.

ARMISTICE DAY PROGRAM GIVEN IN HIGH SCHOOL

Appropriate numbers in keeping with the occasion marked the special Armistice assembly in the Santa Ana high school this morning. Nell Vandermast, student body president, presided.

Ralph Smalley, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was the principal speaker of the morning. He pictured to the audience tragic happenings in the great World war and impressed on his hearers minds that war should be abolished.

The boys' glee club, under the direction of Miss Mary Batten, sang the familiar old song, "Tenting Tonight." Nada Hill, prominent soloist of Orange county, sang "There is No Death."

The other speaker of the morning, Otto Jacobs, Santa Ana attorney, talking under the auspices of the American Legion, spoke on "Experiences of the Fellows in the Trenches." He gave many humorous experiences of war life and then, in contrast, the more serious. He pointed out that warfare is terrible and all means should be taken to abolish it.

The remaining number on the program was by the high school boys' quartet, "The Long Long Trail" and Kipling's "Recessional" were sung.

Mrs. Ralph Barker Is Complimented With Pretty Shower

Mrs. Ralph Barker of this city and her baby daughter were complimented yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Elmer Christensen, Mrs. Paul Hall, and Mrs. Burton Wright entertained for Mrs. Barker at the home of Mrs. Wright, 810 Hickory street.

A color scheme of blue and pink was used by the hostesses in decorating the Wright home for the affair. Later in the afternoon when a dainty refreshments course was served, tiny cradle nut cups in pink and blue and crystal vases of sweet peas and baby breath completed the attractive table appointments.

Bridge was enjoyed during the afternoon and the adding of scores resulted in appropriate prizes going to Mrs. Roy Langley and Mrs. Paul Rogers. Following the presentation of the awards, Mrs. Barker received a number of dainty gifts for her new little daughter.

The guest list included Mrs. Roy Langley, Mrs. George Richardson, Mrs. Roy King, Mrs. C. H. Chapman, Miss Viola Chapman, Mrs. Ray Hill, Mrs. Frank Dane, Mrs. Dean Wallace, Mrs. Bary Davis, Mrs. J. Simon Fluor Jr., Mrs. Jess Goodman, Mrs. R. W. Weston, Mrs. Lloyd Roach, Mrs. C. J. Skirven, Mrs. Paul Rogers, Mrs. O. A. Jacobs and Mrs. Ralph Barker.

White Shrine Bridge Club Entertained

Mrs. George Shippe's attractive home at 633 North Van Ness avenue, was the scene of the latest meeting of the White Shrine Bridge club, with Mrs. Walter Wright and Mrs. Shippe as joint hostesses.

A wealth of chrysanthemums in rich hues decorated the home, where pleasant, friendly atmosphere was apparent to all the guests. A short business session was held, but since the secretary, Mrs. Winnie Dean, was absent, her place was taken by Mrs. Gardner, who read the minutes, and also a letter from Damascus Shrine, expressing appreciation for the handsome robes donated by the bridge club.

Bridge followed this interval, and Mrs. Elmer Lewis made high score, winning an embroidered buffet set. An embroidered guest towel was given as second prize to Mrs. Clara Seaver.

Nut-bread sandwiches, coffee and a delectable pudding were served by Mrs. Shippe and Mrs. Wright at the close of the games.

TO STUDY IN NORTH

Robert Bradford who has long been one of the city's most popular vocalists, left last night for San Francisco where he plans to continue his studies under the famous voice teacher, Frank Carroll Giffen.

Frank Carroll Giffen Will Direct Study Of Baritone

Having completed an extensive course in voice culture in Santa Ana, Robert Bradford, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Bradford of 1614 Spurgeon street, who is one of the most promising young vocalists in this city, left last night for San Francisco where he will continue his studies under the direction of Frank Carroll Giffen, one of the best known voice teachers on the Pacific coast.

Mr. Bradford plans to stay with friends in the northern city for several weeks until he is permanently located. He will study under Mr. Giffen for an indefinite period and eventually, he hopes to study in Italy.

The young baritone has appeared on many musical programs in Santa Ana where he has always been extremely popular. A year ago he won the Pacific coast Elstedford contest and was sent to Chicago to compete in the national contest which he missed winning by a small margin. Madame Manuela Budrow, local voice teacher, who is noted for her own lovely voice, discovered the young man's ability several years ago and has since outlined his music course for him, seeing that it included the study of Spanish, French and Italian, as essential parts of every great singer's knowledge.

Delightful Afternoon At Kauffman Home

A delightful afternoon was spent Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Herbert Kauffman of 110 West First street when she was hostess at an attractive luncheon. Quantities of chrysanthemums in autumn colors were used in decorating the tables and were also arranged in baskets throughout the living rooms of the Kauffman home.

Following the luncheon a bridge game was enjoyed by some while the rest of Mrs. Kauffman's guests spent the time in sewing.

Those enjoying the affair included Mrs. O. A. Haley, Mrs. Dale Brockett, Mrs. Homer DeWeese, Mrs. Edith Brooks, Mrs. Hugh Haley, and the hostess, Mrs. Kauffman.

YOU and your Friends

Col. Nelson M. Holderman, who has been spending a few days here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Holderman of East Seventeenth street, has left for San Diego. Colonel Holderman, who is commandant of the state veterans' home in Yountville, was in Santa Ana last night to attend the annual dinner given in his honor by the Company L association.

Word has been received by Santa Ana friends of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Winslow, who are on the South American good will tour that the trip is one of the most delightful ever taken by them. Cards to Santa Ana friends were mailed from Lima, Peru. Mr. and Mrs. Winslow expect to return home in December.

Mrs. J. Frank Burke and her daughter, Mrs. Loyal K. King, motored to Los Angeles Wednesday night where they attended the Fritz Kreisler concert.

Mr. and Mrs. George Smith of 316 French street, have returned home from Santa Barbara where they spent several days this week with their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Rodney S. Atsatt, and their children.

Herbert L. Clark, director of the Long Beach Municipal band, was in Santa Ana yesterday to attend the Sousa concert at the high school auditorium.

County University Women Plan to Organize New Section

Plans to organize a section of the Orange county chapter, American Association of University Women, which will be devoted to the study of "The Trend of Modern Thought" and which will meet in the afternoon, were discussed at last night's meeting of the chapter which was held at the Ebell clubhouse.

The section will meet in the afternoon in order to accommodate members of the chapter who find it difficult to attend the evening meetings although those who wish may be present at both afternoon and evening sessions.

Miss Dorothea Smith was in charge of the program and she introduced the Misses Peggy and Dorothy Frick who sang "Der Lindenbaum" and "Der Lorelei." Miss Martha Ehlen, who recently returned from a lengthy sojourn in Europe, was the speaker of the evening. She reviewed her itinerary, embellishing it with entertaining personal experiences.

Italy, she said, she found dirtier than Switzerland and more joyous. There Mussolini's power is so penetrating that most tourists refrain from all remarks concerning him or the Italian government and refer to him as "one who shall be nameless."

France is most bitter of the nations close to the scenes of the great war, the speaker stated.

In the University of Heidelberg several months' studying were enjoyed by Miss Ehlen and she was enabled to tell her personal experiences not usual to a European traveler. "It is the custom," she said, "that when the professors enter the class room students stamp their feet, as a mark of respect to the professor. If the stamping should be omitted it would be an insult. In the University of Vienna where Miss Ehlen also spent some time, it is usual for students to rise when the professor enters the room."

Descriptions and experiences gleaned in Ireland, England and Spain completed the talk.

W. K. Hilliard and Sam Hurwitz spoke during the business meeting on the spirit and purposes of the Community Chest campaign which opens November 19.

Charity Ball to Be Given By Sciots November 22

In order that Christmas cheer might not be entirely absent from some homes in Orange county, Santa Ana pyramid, No. 141, Ancient Egyptian Order of Sciots, will sponsor a ball that will be given November 22, the proceeds of which will be added to a Christmas charity fund.

The dance will be held in the Knights of Pythias hall at Fifth and Broadway, from 8:30 o'clock until 11:30 o'clock and those who are not interested in dancing may play cards, according to N. E. Mayhill, top of the pyramid.

Proceeds from the ball will be spent for groceries and other necessities which will be distributed at needy homes throughout the county on Christmas eve by members of Santa Ana pyramid.

The committee which is assisting Mr. Mayhill in arrangements for the affair includes A. H. Gritton, Walter Wright, Lloyd E. Roach, William P. Carnutt, Elmer Smith, and William Dean.

Mr. and Mrs. Pickering Hosts at Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. W. Dale Pickering of 10 West Camille street were hosts Wednesday night at a smartly appointed dinner party and bridge which was held in their home.

Covers were laid at the flower centered table for the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Pickering, Mr. and Mrs. Al Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Bettis, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. James Coulson, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stein.

When bridge scores were added at the end of the happy evening, it was found that Mrs. Carl Stein and Mrs. James Coulson were high. Each received an attractive gift.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

United Brethren
The Women's Missionary society of the United Brethren church met at the church on Wednesday afternoon.

Owing to illness in her home, the president, Mrs. Gammell, was present only for the business session held at the beginning of the meeting.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Morgan. The topic for the day was "Africa—Its Peoples, Their Languages, Their Homes, How They Live and Some of Their Traits of Character."

Their religious beliefs were described in an article read by Mrs. Sidman.

These studies of Africa are very interesting.

A SWEDISH PEA SOUP THAT'S DIFFERENT

Johanna, my Swedish friend, paid me a visit one day last week, and while she was here the question came up of what to have for lunch. She suggested Pea Soup as made in her country.

She insisted on having an imported variety of whole pea (from Sweden, of course). She used a pound of the peas, washed and picked over, then set to cook in cold water with a speck of soda added when the water began to boil. This was to loosen up the skins, which she skimmed off the top and threw away—I won't do that next time, for good reasons.

Then she rinsed the peas, put plenty of hot water in the kettle and about two-thirds of a pound of dry salt pork, cut in thin slices. The kettle was covered and let simmer for several hours when the peas were thoroughly cooked and still intact.

That was all we had for lunch except the grape fruit and coffee that followed for dessert.

Johanna says that fresh pork spare ribs are very good when cooked with the pea soup but she insists that Swedish peas are better than the domestic variety and I wonder if she is right, or just prejudiced.

TODAY'S RECIPE

ESCALLOPED OYSTERS
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon flour
1 egg, well beaten
Salt and pepper
1 cup rich milk
1 quart of oysters or 2 cans of oysters
1 cup toasted crumbs
2 tablespoons butter for crumbs.

If oysters are scarce in your vicinity and the price prohibitive, canned oysters offer a satisfactory substitute for scalloped dishes.

In either case we will have some oyster liquor to use and I suggest that it be heated in a double boiler, mixed with a little rich milk and seasonings and served as oyster bouillon, or it might be added to Cream of Tomato soup if you like unique flavors.

Blend the butter and flour, add the cold milk and stir until the sauce is smooth and thick. Season, remove from the fire and stir in the beaten egg.

If using fresh oysters, strain off the juice (save it) and wash them carefully. Lift from the rinse water to the top of a double boiler and let them cook until the edges begin to curl, then drain.

Butter a shallow dish, dust with buttered crumbs, arrange a layer of oysters covered with cream sauce, a sprinkle of crumbs, and so on until the ingredients are used up. Finish the top with crumbs and a generous dash of paprika. Cook for 15 minutes in a slow oven, just before serving slip the dish under the flame and brown the top.

There are six generous servings

In this recipe with a calory total of 1400, two-thirds of which are energy foods in the sauce and crumbs. Oysters are low in food value but rich in iodine and vitamins.

Just two days left in which you may have the current leaflet free if you send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to this department.

The leaflet deals with the medicinal value of SPINACH and has many recipes of value. I call it GOOD COMPLEXIONS FROM SPINACH because that is exactly what spinach can do if it appears on your table frequently.

TOMORROW we'll make some Oatmeal Bread that you will like. ANN MEREDITH.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

Often there will be one child in the family who will take the lead—usually the oldest—and become intolerably bossy over the rest.

This is probably more often the case where families are large and the oldest child has been a sort of mother's assistant.

One mother said to me recently, "I don't know what to do with Irene. She's getting absolutely beyond my control. I don't want to break her spirit, but I can't have her going on the way she is. She lords it over the other three children continually, until poor Louise can't call her soul her own."

She Was Right

I had an opportunity to observe both children. Irene was 10; Louise was 8.

It soon was very evident that what mother said was true. Both were charming children, but two entirely different spirits looked out of Irene's bright blue eyes and Louise's appealing brown ones.

I watched them playing. When Irene said come, Louise went. If she didn't snap out of it in a hurry, too, Irene called her a name or gave her a push.

Here was tyranny. The worst of it was that when Irene chose to be kind, her sister was pitifully grateful.

Everything was lovely as long as the little despot was having her own way.

Just as the mother was afraid of breaking the older child's spirit, that young lady was doing her best, and succeeding, in subjugating her sister.

"What would you do?" asked their mother. "Shall I take Irene in hand and punish her?"

Separate Them

"No, don't do that. It would be a long war and, after all, there is nothing gained by trying to rob a child of a strong will. Diverge it that's all. Keep her busy with other things. Get some outside interests for that will of hers to dig its teeth into."

"Keep them apart. Give Irene her own room, if possible. Hunt up outside friends for her, friends she can't bulldoze. And see that Louise has outside friends, too, different ones from Irene's. Don't have them take music from the same teacher. If it could be arranged, I'd send them to different schools. I'd leave as little room for comparison as possible and try to overcome that inferiority complex of Louise's."

And this is the advice I would give to all mothers, whether they have boys or girls. Keep the dominating one very busy, and keep him apart, but don't try to "master" him or break his spirit.

EAT THE THEATER

YOST BROADWAY

Like "Skyscraper," "Power," now showing at the Broadway theater, is great laugh-and-thrill entertainment; but unlike "Skyscraper," it is devoid of tears. There is surprise aplenty, also well-maintained suspense, vivid climaxes, and sudden let-downs to mirth. Those small-town Don Juans—Boyd and Hale, never lose audience-interest; the take-off is irresistible of their love technique, their stupendous egotism, their gusty passions, their bags of tricks, and their simplicity.

Jacqueline Logan is equally good as their foil, a "little girl trying to get along." These excellent characterizations lift "Power" above the level of mere farce to corks good satiric burlesque. Ralph Block has done a good job in putting the modern Lotharios against the thrilling mountain reservoir background; Tay Garnett has invented cleverly, and Howard Higgin has directed the finesse.

WEST COAST-WALKER

Neil Hamilton has joined the ranks of the motion picture players who have turned their attention to vaudeville.

The leading man of "Beau Geste," "Something Always Happens," and others, plays a financially embarrassed, down-at-the-heels, but self-assured, vaudeville performer in Bebe Daniels' "Take Me Home," her latest starring picture on today at the Walker theater.

This role is Neil's first under his new contract and his second opposite the vivacious Bebe, for he recently appeared in the part of a newscaster cameraman in "Hot News."

The new Daniels production shows the star as a stage-struck girl. It marks Miss Daniels' retirement from slapstick farce stories and introduce her in a new type of light comedy characterizations. "Take Me Home" will have a two days' run at the Walker theater.

SEAL BEACH

SEAL BEACH, Nov. 9.—An entertainment will be given in the school auditorium November 12 under the auspices of the Long Beach camp, Woodmen of the World, with Captain T. Jones as entertainer.

The men of Seal Beach are invited and tickets are being distributed by the local members of the order.

The Parent-Teacher association will hold a carnival at the school house November 23 that promises many novel features in the various booths. Stunts of various types will provide entertainment and refreshments will be available.

The children of the first grade entertained the Parent-Teacher association Tuesday with a program of orchestra music by the kindergarten band and a one-act play in which many favorite Mathew Goose characters appeared to lend their support to the modern teaching of health rules. Miss May Lucile Norris directed both numbers.

Anaheim City Council Hits Fullerton Water Franchise

TRUSTEES WILL SEND PROTEST TO SUPERVISORS

ANAHEIM, Nov. 9.—Declaring that the granting of a franchise to the Union Oil company to transport water from the Santa Ana river to land beyond Fullerton would be detrimental to the city of Anaheim, the city council passed a resolution at its regular meeting last night protesting the granting of the franchise. The protest, which is to be presented to the board of supervisors of Orange county, was passed by unanimous vote. The Fullerton council expects to grant the franchise in a short time.

Bids calling for a new switch board for the city power plant were called for and will be opened November 30.

Following a report from City Manager Price, boulevard streets were ordered placed at Chatterness and Cypress streets on Palm street.

A number of appointments of patrolmen, to serve without pay, made by Chief of Police J. S. Bouldin, were approved by the board.

A prolonged discussion resulted from the reading of an ordinance from the planning commission regarding the establishment of a filling station at this point, which is in a residential district, was asked the council on September 28 and has been under consideration since this time.

The permission to erect the station was asked by Victor D. Loly and Jane D. Loly, owners of the property. The Loly's intend leasing the station to an independent dealer. The planning commission recommended the erection of the station but recommended that no such accessories be handled as were handled by the Standard Oil company and the Shell Oil company.

It was pointed out that as neither of the companies handled accessories, this would prevent anyone leasing the station for selling tires or tubes. The council passed a resolution that the ordinance be amended and the first reading will be given at the next meeting of the council.

Anaheim Man And Daughter Injured As Car Overtakes

ANAHEIM, Nov. 9.—O. E. Stewart and daughter, Katherine, 221 South Philadelphia street, were injured yesterday when the car in which they were riding over-turned between Fullerton and Brea. A wet spot on the pavement was responsible for the accident.

Stewart is suffering from a sprained back, bruises and shock. He was taken to the Anaheim sanitarium for treatment. His daughter was treated for minor injuries at her home.

A son of Stewart, who was driving the car at the time of the accident, was uninjured.

Mayor Murphine is at present doing research on historical data pertaining to the discovery of San Clemente island and to early settlements on ground upon which San Clemente is being built. 50,000 PERSONS EXPECTED TO WITNESS ARMISTICE DAY PARADE MONDAY MORNING

ORANGE, Nov. 9.—With the plaza streets and business houses rapidly taking on holiday attire, Orange today was preparing to entertain upwards of 50,000 persons at the 10th annual Orange County Armistice day celebration held here Monday.

The celebration will present a number of new features this year, foremost among which will be the "Parade of Nations," a colorful marching spectacle that will contain costumed groups representing every country in the world.

Not a single commercial float of vehicle will be permitted in the parade, which will be comprised in its entirety of marching groups. More than 1000 school children, all appropriately costumed, will participate in the historical division of the parade.

The Orange County Riding club, led by D. Eymann Huff, is the latest addition to the parade group, having entered 100 horses and riders in the mounted division. The riders will appear in world costumes and will represent three distinct groups, the Spanish, English and western types.

The judges for the costumed groups have been announced as follows: Carl Yens, Laguna Beach; Mrs. Jennie Lasby Tessa, Santa Ana; Mrs. C. C. Wagner, Placentia, and J. W. Price, Anaheim.

The parade, which is estimated to be approximately four miles in length, is scheduled to start promptly at 11 o'clock from the corner of Cambridge street and East Chapman avenue.

It will move west on Chapman avenue to the plaza, thence north on Glassell street to Maple avenue to Cambridge street where it will disband.

At 12:30, Orange county officials, county newspapermen and Legion officials will be guests at the state commander's luncheon at the Legion clubhouse honoring Frank Belgrano, state commander.

The reviewing stand will be placed at a vantage point in the plaza square, where the parade will pass in review before the judges. A section will be reserved for newspapermen, and city and county officials, the first time this has been done in the history of the celebration.

The feature sports attraction of the afternoon will be the football game between Orange and Anaheim high schools which will be played on the high school grounds. Seating accommodations for 5000 persons are being provided. The lightweight teams of the two schools clash at 1:30, with the varsity squads swinging into action at 2:30.

Other sports events include scooter, bicycle and roller skating races, Boy Scouts bugle contest and other features which will take place in the plaza. An all-day automobile show will be held on South Glassell street, where a half block has been reserved for the exhibition of the latest creations in motordom.

In the evening the ball of nations is to be held in the plaza, followed by the queen's parade and the coronation of the queen who is to be picked from 11 candidates entered by the various Legion posts in the county. Dancing, serpentine and confetti battle will follow the coronation of the queen.

Dancing will also be held at the Legion ballroom furnishing the climax to the day's celebration. Band concerts, vaudeville specialties and carnival features will add to the jollity of the evening.

FUNERAL RITES OF PIONEER IN ANAHEIM HELD

ANAHEIM, Nov. 9.—Funeral services were held yesterday morning for Mrs. Elizabeth Neipp, 84, at the Backs, Terry and Campbell funeral parlors, the Rev. Rudolph Curbacken, formerly of this city and the Rev. B. C. Voll of the West Broadway Methodist church, officiating.

Mrs. Neipp had been a resident of Anaheim for the past 46 years and lived with her son, Walter Neipp, of 207 Bush street. She is survived by four other sons, Albert, of Los Angeles; Emil, of Ripley, Calif.; Gus, of Imperial Valley, and Herman, of Blythe, and by three daughters, Mrs. E. Langrich, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Sophie Socin, of Inglewood, and Mrs. Rosa Kramer, of Olive.

Interment was in the Anaheim cemetery.

San Clemente Post To Be Represented In Armistice Event

SAN CLEMENTE, Nov. 9.—San Clemente post No. 331, American Legion, will be represented in the Armistice day parade in Orange. Virgil Westbrook, commander, announces that the veterans will leave San Clemente at 8:30 o'clock in order to arrive in plenty of time for the opening of the celebration.

ROAD PROJECTS BEFORE LAGUNA BEACH COUNCIL

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 9.—Streets occupied the attention of the city council Wednesday, when petition for a change of materials on two streets, a petition for narrowing of Goff street to make an alley of it, and a petition for a change of plans of an unnamed street gave the city fathers something to think about. City Attorney Moresby White added to the quantity of street business by reporting his experience in having obstructions removed from streets, and a report from a council committee asking county aid also was heard.

The first petition asked that Central avenue from Laguna avenue to Sleepy Hollow, and Laguna avenue from the Coast boulevard to Central avenue be paved with cement concrete instead of with asphaltic concrete as the council had decided as the result of previous petition. The controversy over materials in the streets of this district has been before the council on several previous occasions. The petition alleged a majority of the property owners and was referred to the engineer for checking.

C. C. Cowles, counsel for property owners on an unnamed street later officially designated by an ordinance as El Paseo de Laguna, traced the history of city proceedings regarding improvements contemplated for that short thoroughfare.

Mr. Cowles had a petition which he showed but did not present as he said two more signatures would probably be procured. Goff street, brought before the council in another petition, would be reduced to an alley instead of being dignified as a street by clipping a 10-foot strip from each side of it and adding it to abutting property. None of the councilmen saw any particular reason for not granting the petition, which will take the usual abandonment course, it was said.

The council committee consisting of Mayor Frank E. Champlin, Councilman B. B. Mason, City Engineer A. J. Stead reported on the conference with Supervisor George Jeffrey for county aid from the gas tax money for the improvement of Broadway. Mr. Jeffrey made no promises, but showed sympathetic interest and said that if it could be conclusively shown that Broadway is an essential connecting link between two major highways, aid might be granted. The budget for the next

Millions of Families Depend on Dr. Caldwell's Prescription

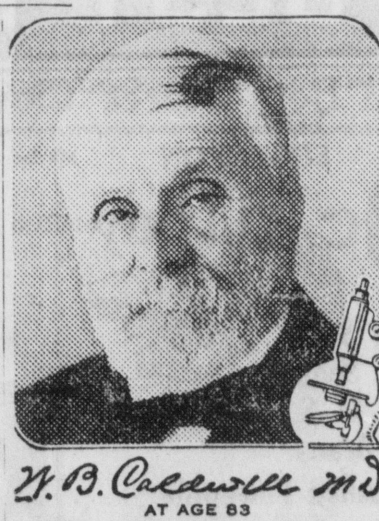

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875 the needs for a laxative were not as great as they are today. People lived normal, quiet lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air and sunshine. But even that early there were drastic physics and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings to put into their system. So he wrote a prescription for a laxative to be used by his patients.

The prescription for constipation which he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe, gentle bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsin.

Under successful management this prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. The fact that millions of bottles are used a year proves that it has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds and fevers.

Millions of families are now never without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and if you will once start using it you will also always have a bottle handy for emergencies.

It is particularly pleasing to know that the most of it is bought by mothers for themselves.

and the children, though Syrup Pepsin is just as valuable for elderly people. All drug stores have the generous bottles. Or, to prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours, use the special coupon:

FRUIT GROWERS SCHEDULED TO GET $327,521

ANAHEIM, Nov. 9.—Grower members of the Anaheim Orange and Lemon association will receive payments for their third pool of fruit marketed through this association this week, it was announced yesterday. This pool extended from September 15 to October 11.

Pool No. 2 extended from July 23 to September 15 and during this period about 55,865 boxes were shipped. Returns per field box to the growers were about $3.65 and total returns for the season were $327,521.45. The returns will be considerably augmented by the payment of No. 3 and the off bloom pool, which extended from October 11 to October 23.

According to the plant manager, G. W. Sandilands, prospects are very good for the next season's crop. The crop will yield about 800 cars for this association during the season of 1929, Sandilands stated.

THE WEEKLY PANTRY SHELF

WINTERSBURG

WINTERSBURG, Nov. 9. — Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barnes, former local residents visiting in the community in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harris Musgrave this week. Mr. and Mrs. Barnes have just returned from their former home in Tennessee, where they spent the summer and where the tragic death of Mr. Barnes' young sister, Alice, occurred on July fourth. She was electrocuted during an electric storm. Alice was a member of last June's graduating class at the Oceanview school. Mr. and Mrs. Barnes are located in Long Beach. Mrs. Fred Swartz and young son, Fred Jr., returned Tuesday from Seaside hospital, Long Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Pemberton and daughter, Dona Pearl, were guests recently in the home of Mrs. Pemberton's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Snasdel.

Ernest Lopp, who was injured several weeks ago while at work in the Huntington Beach oil field, has been brought from the Santa Ana Valley hospital to the home of his brother, Clarence Lopp. Mr. Lopp is getting about the house on crutches.

Mrs. H. Pamplin spent Wednesday in Long Beach, where she visited her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Eby and son, Walter Eby, were here from Long Beach this week as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Snasdel. Mrs. Mary Doyle, junior regent of the Mooseheart society; Mrs. George Gothard, Mrs. Ethel Sebastian, Mrs. Mary Buchanan, Mrs. M. C. Hazard, Mrs. Ruth Sowers, Mrs. Bridges, Mrs. Robert Jenkins and Mrs. Hurt of the Mooseheart lodge attended the regular meeting Wednesday.

Mrs. M. C. Hazard was made chairman of the Christmas program committee for the Moose, Mooseheart and Junior Mooseheart organizations. She is also in charge of the Mooseheart Sewing club bazaar, which is scheduled for Dec. 15 in Antlers hall.

Mrs. Ruth Sowers, of Wintersburg, is captain of the drill team and Mrs. Hurt, assistant of the team which is getting ready for the installation service, the nomination of officers being planned for November 21 by the lodge. Next Wednesday evening Mrs. Sowers' team is to entertain the officers of the Mooseheart and will serve refreshments. Decision was made to abandon the usual monthly card parties for the months of November and December, the next to be held in January.

Mrs. Iva Masters and daughter, Marjorie, spent Tuesday evening with relatives in Anaheim.

The local election board members, Mrs. L. E. Barry, Mrs. Ethel Sebastian, Mrs. Fred Mallette, Miss Mallette, J. O. Pyle and Don Mcmillan greatly appreciated a treat of ice cream which arrived at the voting place together with the compliments of George Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lopp entertained as recent guests, Mr. Lopp's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Sylvie, of Redlands, who are at present staying in Huntington Beach, and who possibly will locate in that city.

Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Brown and family joined Mr. and Mrs. Lopp at their home to listen in over the radio to the election returns.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris Musgrave attended a costume party in Long Beach.

SHOCKING TO PESTS

LONDON, Nov. 9.—A new electrically charged plow is claimed to be death to pests and a boon to crops. Experiments show that as the two blades of the plow pass through the soil, an electrical field is created, which kills insects and weeds and puts nitrogen into the soil.

"Trading at" PIGGLY WIGGLY

BECOMES a regular thing when customers once get the real idea. There are so many ways in which the Piggly Wiggly system serves the requirements of the public more adequately. I think the best compliment to Piggly Wiggly system and efficiency is the fact that other chains are trying to duplicate our fixtures. 'Imitation is the sincerest of flattery', and I feel like the fellows down at the office: Other chains may try to imitate our stores and fixtures, but they'll never duplicate our spirit.

THE WEEKLY PANTRY SHELF

BREA

BREA, Nov. 9.—L. A. Crowe has returned from a visit of three months with his aged father in Baltimore.

Ray Stine, of the comptroller's department of the Union Oil company, was on Wednesday night elected patron of Aml Tai chapter No. 405, O. E. S. Stine succeeds Emanuel Smith, of Fullerton, who has served as patron during the past year along with Mrs. Rosalie Williams, of this city, as worthy matron.

Because of many conflicting engagements, the meeting of the literary section of the Brea Woman's club, scheduled for tonight at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Phebe Spensley, has been postponed. Notice of the meeting will be made later.

All day bazaar, a dinner beginning at 5:30 o'clock and a card party, the final in the series, will mark November 14 as a busy day for members of the Bee Hive club of Trinity Rebekah lodge.

BISHOP'S PEANUT BUTTER

A PERFECT AND POPULAR FOOD FOR CHILDREN

Cudahy's Puritan Bacon

Finer Flavor

Cudahy's Puritan Bacon is unrivalled. Finer flavor and greater tenderness have made it famous.

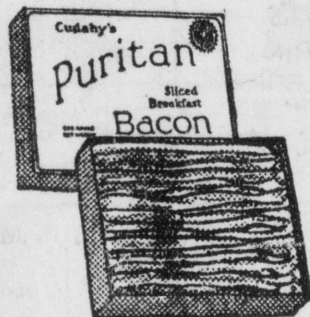

Puritan owes its distinguished qualities to the special method of curing these choice young meats. This method diffuses the rich meat juices in a natural way without forcing or hurrying. It is therefore uniformly sweet, mild, tender and delicious. Broiled or fried, its very aroma tempts even the most delicate appetite.

Try Puritan and see how good it is—a tempting, wholesome, nutritious food, easily digested; fine for growing children as well as for grown-ups. Puritan Bacon is a delightful adjunct in the preparation of meat dishes, salads, etc. At your dealer's.

ARMISTICE DAY

Slowly the passing years are wiping out the harsher memories of that monstrous struggle in which we were all engaged so recently that it seems only yesterday. Yet, in many hearts there still lingers the recollection of those days when we scanned the casualty lists with fear and trembling or listened to the approaching footsteps of the postman with mingled hope and dread. Hundreds of thousands of men—many of whom today belong to our own organization—still hear the vicious scream of shot and shell, smell the terrible stench of the trenches and shiver at the thought of the bitter cold and discomfort they endured while heroically facing an implacable enemy in the service of humanity. It is highly fitting, then, that the day when these awful things came to a triumphant end should be solemnly commemorated. This institution joins earnestly with the whole people in this recognition and celebration.

WAR VETERANS. 24 AND 86, IN DISAGREEMENT

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 9.—Two enlistments in the Army in 1917, both fraudulent, gave to the United States two decorated heroes and oldest members.

Both, after ten years of peace and absence from the various French battlefields where they served their country, have taken up their residence in Miami where they occasionally met at the American Legion Post.

George A. Mackenzie, now aged 24, as a youth of fourteen tricked the enlistment officers at Jacksonville by presenting a signed document from his father stating he was of serviceable age. In an emergency, when enlistment authorities insisted his father appear in person, he canvassed the city docks on the waterfront and for two dollars persuaded a grayed old sailor to appear in the role of parent and swear the youth was telling the truth.

John A. Boucher, 84, veteran of the Civil and Spanish American Wars, pared down 20 years from his age and as a fighter of 54 was accepted by Uncle Sam for duty. But on his arrival in camp he ran afoul of an officer who served as recruit under him in the Spanish War, who, recognizing the real age of the old warrior promptly secured his discharge.

Not to be put off so lightly, Boucher journeyed to another city and giving his age as 48, was accepted and passed by medical examiners. Not long later he sailed for France, active duty and an act of heroism netted him a decoration.

Boucher, who still stands erect, with head and shoulders thrown back to display the unmistakable stamp of the military man, is known around these parts as a fighting Democrat and on all occasions during the campaign furthered Smith's candidacy.

They differ in respective attitudes toward any future war in which the United States may engage.

As far as Mackenzie is concerned, he says, he had about enough of the army, though he looks with no regret on his one fling. Boucher, in whom the spirit of fighting and things military may be more deeply rooted, stands ready to go to arms again.

That he could again succeed in drawing the wool over any enlistment officer's eyes all may doubt and in so doing disagree with Boucher.

"As long as a man can carry a gun and step smartly under orders," he says jesting, "he is never too old to fight."

SELLING STORY

BRANSON, Mo., Nov. 9.—A couple of traveling salesmen tell this one. They say a rattlesnake, measuring 4 feet 2 inches was killed by them near Bull Creek. Further data is to the effect that the snake was nearly ten inches in circumference and had twelve rattles.
